[26 August 1981]

BE IT ENACTED by the General Assembly of New Zealand in Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

1. Short Title and commencement—(1) This Act may be cited as the Customs Amendment Act 1981, and shall be read together with and deemed part of the Customs Act 1966 (hereinafter referred to as the principal Act).

(2) This Act shall come into force on the 1st day of July 1982.

2. Imposition of export duty—Section 124A of the principal Act (as inserted by section 24 of the Customs Acts Amendment Act (No. 2) 1977) is hereby amended by repealing subsection (7), and substituting the following subsections:

“(7) Every valuation made by the Collector under subsection (6) of this section shall be taken to be correct, and duty shall be payable in accordance therewith, unless, on appeal to the Administrative Division of the High Court under subsection (8) of this section, a different amount is proved to be the correct value of the goods for the purposes of export duty.

“(8) Where any person liable to pay the export duty is dissatisfied with any valuation made by the Collector under subsection (6) of this section, he may appeal to the Administrative Division of the High Court against that valuation.

“(9) Every such appeal shall be made by giving notice of appeal within 28 days after the date on which the appellant was notified of the Collector’s valuation appealed against, or within such further time as the Court may allow on application made either before or after the expiration of those 28 days.

“(10) In its determination of any appeal, the Court may confirm or modify the valuation appealed against.

“(11) The procedure in respect of any such appeal shall be in accordance with the rules of the Court, and in default of such rules, or so far as they do not extend, then in accordance with the usual practice of the High Court in civil proceedings so far as applicable or, so far as not applicable, then in accordance with the directions of the Court or a Judge thereof.

“(12) The obligation to pay and the right to receive and recover any duty shall not be suspended by any appeal; but if the appellant succeeds, the amount (if any) of the duty received by the Collector in excess of the amount which, according to the decision on the hearing of the appeal, was properly payable, shall forthwith be refunded to him by the Collector.”

3. Imposition of surtax—Section 125A of the principal Act (as inserted by section 25 of the Customs Acts Amendment Act (No. 2) 1977) is hereby amended by omitting from subsection (5) (a) the words “current domestic value” in both places where they occur, and substituting in each case the words “Customs value”.

4. Dumping duty—(1) Section 129 of the principal Act (as substituted by section 6 of the Customs Amendment Act 1971 and amended by section 4 of the Customs Amendment Act 1973) is hereby further amended—

- (a) By omitting from subsection (2) (a) the words “current domestic value determined in accordance with the provisions of this Act”, and substituting the words “value determined in accordance with subsection (14) of this section”:
- (b) By omitting from subsection (4) (a) the words “current domestic value”, and substituting the words “value determined in accordance with subsection (14) of this section”:

(2) Section 129 of the principal Act (as so substituted and amended) is hereby further amended by adding the following subsection:

“(14) For the purposes of subsections (2) (a), (4) (a), (5), and (6) of this section, the value of goods shall be determined as follows:

“(a) Subject to paragraph (b) of this subsection, the value of goods shall be taken to be the fair market value of the goods when sold for cash in the ordinary course of business for home consumption in the principal markets of the country from which the goods are exported at the time when they were so exported:

“Provided that—

“(i) No deduction of any kind shall be allowed from the value of such goods because of any special or sample discount, or because of any special arrangement concerning the export of the goods or the exclusive right to their sale within certain territorial limits, or because of any royalty payable on patent rights but not payable when goods are so exported, or on account of any other consideration by which a special reduction in price has been or might be obtained:

“(ii) If it is proved to the satisfaction of the Collector that any drawback of import duty or excise duty has been paid or allowed on any parts, materials, or ingredients used in making any goods, or that any import duty or excise duty has been actually paid on the goods in the country from which they were exported or would have been payable on them in that country if they had been there entered for home consumption instead of being exported therefrom, the amount of that duty or drawback shall be deducted from the value of the goods as determined in accordance with the foregoing provisions of this subsection:

“(iii) When the value of any goods when sold for cash for home consumption as aforesaid depends in the ordinary course of business on the quantity sold, such value shall be determined by reference to the quantity actually imported at one and the same time by the same importer from the same seller or supplier, except that if the goods are imported under a bona fide contract of purchase made in the ordinary course of business and including a greater quantity of such goods than that which is actually imported at one and the same time the value of the goods shall be estimated by reference to the aggregate quantity so included in that contract and imported or to be imported in pursuance thereof within a period not exceeding 12 months:

“(b) Notwithstanding anything in paragraph (a) of this subsection, if in the opinion of the Minister it is difficult, inequitable, or impracticable to determine the value of the goods in accordance with this subsection because—

“(i) The goods are not sold for use or consumption in the country of export; or

“(ii) They are not so sold in the ordinary course of business or in quantities similar to those imported into New Zealand; or

“(iii) The exporter retains the property in them; or

“(iv) They are not imported on their sale; or

“(v) They are not imported in pursuance of a bona fide contract of purchase made in the ordinary course of business; or

“(vi) There is no reliable means of estimating their value owing to the imposition of a royalty on them; or

“(vii) They are usually or exclusively sold or imported in or under any other unusual or peculiar manner, conditions, or restrictions, either by way of limitation of purchases from or sales to any person or associations of persons or for any other reason—the Minister shall determine the value of the goods in such manner and at such sum as he thinks just:

“Provided that the value of goods as determined in accordance with this paragraph shall not exceed the price at which the goods are, in the country of exportation and at the time when they were exported, sold in the ordinary course of business for domestic consumption to the ultimate consumer, if in the opinion of the Minister such price can be ascertained.”

5. Valuation of goods for duty—(1) The principal Act is hereby further amended by repealing section 136, and substituting the following section:

“136. Except as otherwise expressly provided in this Act, the value of any imported goods for the purposes of applying the Tariff shall be the Customs value of the goods.”

as may be prescribed shall make and produce to the Collector or other proper officer a declaration of the value of the goods imported in such form and manner as may be prescribed.

“(2) Every importer or such other person as may be prescribed shall provide such additional information as the Collector or other proper officer requires which evidences the particulars of the goods and the price paid or payable for those goods between the seller of the goods and the buyer of the goods.

“(3) Unless the Comptroller otherwise directs in relation to any class or classes of goods or transactions, the Collector or other proper officer may retain the documents so produced, or a legible copy thereof made by carbon or other duplicating process made by or on behalf of the seller or consignor of the goods.”

7. Determination of Customs value by Collector—(1) The principal Act is hereby further amended by repealing section 140, and substituting the following section:

“140. (1) The Customs value of goods pursuant to section 136 of the Act and the Ninth Schedule thereto shall be determined by the Collector and duty shall be payable in accordance with that determination unless, pursuant to this Act, a different amount is proved to be the correct Customs value of the goods.

“(2) If, on the basis of an objection received from the importer or for any other reason, the Collector is satisfied that any determination made under subsection (1) of this section in respect of any goods is inconsistent with section 136 of this Act and the Ninth Schedule thereto, or incorrect for any other reason, he may amend his determination in respect of that determination accordingly and duty shall be payable in accordance with that amended determination.

“(3) If any importer disagrees with any determination by the Collector of the Customs value of any goods, he may object to that value by making application to the Collector, stating the grounds of his objection and the amount that he considers should be the Customs value of the goods.

“(4) An objection under this section shall be given in writing to the Collector within 28 days after any determination made under subsection (1) of this section or within such further time as may be allowed by the Collector.

“(5) The Collector shall consider the objection and inform the importer in writing of his decision.

“(6) Where the Collector amends his determination of the Customs value of any goods pursuant to subsection (2) of this section otherwise than as a result of an objection received from the importer of these goods he shall give notice to the importer of the amended determination.”

(2) Section 141 of this Act is hereby consequentially repealed.

8. Review by Administrative Division of High Court of determination—(1) The principal Act is hereby further amended by inserting, after section 140 (as substituted by section 8 of this Act), the following section:

“(2) Every such appeal shall be made by giving notice of appeal within 28 days after the date on which the appellant was notified in writing under section 140 (5) of this Act of the decision or within such further time as the Court may allow an application made either before or after the expiration of those 28 days.

“(3) In its determination of any appeal, the Court may confirm or modify the determination appealed against.

“(4) The procedure in respect of any such appeal shall be in accordance with the rules of the Court, and in default of such rules, or so far as they do not extend, then in accordance with the usual practice of the High Court in civil proceedings so far as applicable or, so far as not applicable, then in accordance with the directions of the Court or a Judge thereof.

“(5) Notwithstanding anything in this Act, where in the course of determining any appeal, it becomes necessary to delay the final determination of such appeal, the appellant shall nevertheless be given delivery of his goods from Customs control subject to the Collector receiving such security as he thinks sufficient to cover the full amount of duty.”

 - (b) In the same or substantially the same quantities as the goods being valued.
