For the purpose of complying with the requirements of any Act, or of the University of New Zealand, with respect to the entry of the name of any person on the books of a University College or the attendance of any student at a University College, or the doing of any work, or the keeping of terms, or with respect to any other matter relative to the grant of a degree by the Council of the University of

(2) In addition to the purposes specified in the Schedule to the Education Purposes Loans Act, 1919, in their application to the College established under the principal Act, moneys may, without further appropriation than this Act, be expended out of the Education Loans Account in the purchase of any live-stock, implements, or material required for the purposes of the College.

(3) Section sixteen of the Appropriation Act, 1926, is hereby repealed.
