If the owner does not agree to the brand being cancelled, the registration of the brand shall enure; but if he consents to the cancellation, or if after a further year the owner of a brand is still not the owner of stock of the class to which the registration relates, the brand shall be cancelled.

(2) Where the Registrar is satisfied that, during the period of three years immediately preceding the commencement of this Part of this Act, the owner of a registered brand for sheep or cattle has not owned stock of the class to which the registration relates during that period, he may cancel the brand forthwith:

Provided that, where it is proved to the satisfaction of the Registrar that any such cancellation has been made in error or through mistake, the cancelled registration may be reinstated without fee, and the registration shall be deemed to have enured as if it had not in fact been cancelled:

Provided also that where any registration is to be so reinstated but since the cancellation the brand has been re-allotted to some other owner, the Registrar may cancel the registration for that other owner and require him to make application without payment for registration of a brand in substitution of the brand so re-allotted and cancelled.
