

OATHS AND DECLARATIONS BILL

EXPLANATORY NOTE

THIS Bill is a consolidation, with some minor amendments, of the existing law relating to the taking of oaths, affirmations, and declarations contained in:

- (a) Sections 49 to 53 of the Evidence Act 1908.
- (b) The Promissory Oaths Act 1908.
- (c) The Oaths Act 1910.
- (d) Part VIII of the Justices of the Peace Act 1927.
- (e) Sections 7 and 8 of the Evidence Amendment Act 1945.
- (f) Other miscellaneous Acts requiring the holders of several judicial offices to take the Oath of Allegiance and the Judicial Oath.
- (g) The Acts of the Parliament of England or of the United Kingdom that are specified in the Fifth Schedule and are at present in force in New Zealand.

References to the existing law are shown as footnotes to the clauses in the Bill, and a table at the end of this note indicates which of the existing provisions have been omitted and shows where the others are to be found in the Bill, either in the same or in a modified form.

PART I

OATHS, AFFIRMATIONS, AND DECLARATIONS IN GENERAL

This Part of the Bill specifies the manner in which oaths, affirmations, and declarations may be taken in New Zealand and in other countries for use in New Zealand. Except where otherwise mentioned in this note, this Part of the Bill makes no substantial changes in the existing law.

Clause 3 prescribes the manner in which oaths are to be administered.

Clause 4 provides that every person is entitled as of right to make his solemn affirmation instead of taking an oath, and his affirmation will have the same force and effect as an oath.

Clause 5 declares that an oath duly administered and taken is not affected by the absence of religious belief on the part of the person taking the oath.

Clause 6 re-enacts the existing provisions of section 299 of the Justices of the Peace Act 1927 relating to the unlawful administration of oaths, and contains a new provision making it an offence for any person wilfully to administer an oath unlawfully. The general effect of the clause is to prohibit the administering of an oath except for some purpose for which an oath is required by law.

Clauses 7 to 9 re-enact the existing provisions of the Justices of the Peace Act 1927 relating to statutory declarations, but subclause (2) of clause 9 is new, and provides that an authority given to an officer in the service of the Crown to take statutory declarations may be given to an officer designated by name or to the holder for the time being of a specified office.

Clause 10 prescribes the manner in which oaths may be administered outside New Zealand for the purpose of proceedings in New Zealand.

Clause 11 re-enacts with some changes the existing provisions of section 15 of the Statutory Declarations Act 1835 (U.K.) relating to the taking of declarations outside New Zealand. The only substantial differences between this clause and the existing provisions are the omission of the provision that declarations made in the United Kingdom may be used in New Zealand Courts instead of affidavits, and the inclusion of provisions that declarations may be taken outside New Zealand by a solicitor of the Supreme Court of New Zealand. By clause 31 (3) of the Bill declarations duly made under section 15 of the United Kingdom Act before the commencement of the Bill may continue to be used in New Zealand Courts.

Clause 12 re-enacts the existing provisions as to the taking of oaths and declarations by servicemen outside New Zealand, and extends those provisions by authorising the oaths and declarations to be administered by officers of allied forces or United Nations forces. Officers of allied forces or United Nations forces may not administer a promissory oath, such as an Oath of Allegiance.

PART II

OATHS AND AFFIRMATIONS IN JUDICIAL PROCEEDINGS

This Part re-enacts without substantial change the existing provisions relating to the taking of oaths and affirmations in judicial proceedings.

Clause 13 provides that witnesses under twelve years of age may make declarations instead of giving evidence on oath.

Clause 14 defines the persons who may administer oaths in judicial proceedings.

Clause 15 prescribes the manner of administering oaths in judicial proceedings.

Clause 16 provides that a witness, instead of being sworn in the usual form, may elect to be sworn in Scots form.

PART III

PROMISSORY OATHS AND AFFIRMATIONS

This Part re-enacts without substantial change the provisions of the Promissory Oaths Act 1908, which prescribes the forms of the Oath of Allegiance, the Judicial Oath, the Executive Councillor's Oath, and the Official Oath, and the provisions of the Civil List Act 1950 which prescribe the form of the Parliamentary Under-Secretary's Oath, and specifies the persons who are required to take those oaths and the manner in which those oaths are to be administered, and contains other miscellaneous provisions relating to those oaths.

Clause 22 brings together in this Bill provisions of miscellaneous Acts requiring the holders of several judicial offices to take the Oath of Allegiance and the Judicial Oath.

PART IV

REPEALS

Clause 31 declares that the Acts of the Parliament of England or of the United Kingdom that are specified in the Fifth Schedule to the Bill shall cease to have effect as part of the law of New Zealand.

Clause 32 provides for repeals of the New Zealand enactments that are specified in the Sixth Schedule to the Bill.

General Provisions

10 26. Effect of neglecting to take oath—(1) If any officer mentioned in this Act or in the Second Schedule or Third Schedule to this Act declines or neglects, when any oath required to be taken by him under this Act is duly tendered, to take that oath, he shall if he has already entered on his office vacate the same, and if he has not entered on the same be dis-
15 qualified from entering on the same; but no person shall be compelled in respect of the same appointment to the same office to take any oath more than once.

(2) Where any person who is a Justice of the Peace by virtue of his holding any office and has taken the Oath of 20 Allegiance and the Judicial Oath is re-elected to that office at the next succeeding election, it shall not be necessary for him to take those oaths on any such re-election.

Cf. 1908, No. 151, s. 9; 1927, No. 37, s. 7

25 27. 35 of this Act any person would by virtue of any law now in force be required to take any oath on or as a condition of his accepting any employment or office, or being admitted to any rights or privileges, a declaration shall be substituted for that oath in such form as the person who would have administered
40 the oath thinks fit, but so that the declaration shall be to the like effect in all respects as the oath for which it is substituted.

(2) The making of any such declaration shall in all respects have the same effect as the taking of the oath for which the same is substituted would have had if this Act had not been passed.

(3) If any person required by this Act to make a declaration instead of an oath declines or neglects to make that declaration, he shall be subject to the same penalties and disabilities (if any) as he would have been subject to for declining or neglecting to take the oath for which the declaration provided by this Act is substituted. 5
