A BILL INTITULED

AN ACT to make Further Provision relating to Public Morgues. Title.

BE IT ENACTED by the General Assembly of New Zealand in Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

1. The Short Title of this Act is "The Public Morgues Act, 1904." Short Title.

2. It shall be incumbent upon the local authority of every city or borough having one thousand or more inhabitants, as shown by the census last taken, to provide a suitable building for the purposes of a public morgue; and if any such local authority shall fail so to do, then any ten ratepayers of such city or borough may apply to the Supreme Court for a mandamus to compel such local authority to comply with this provision, and shall be entitled to recover from such local authority all costs incurred in and about the obtainment of such mandamus. Certain cities and boroughs to provide public morgues.

3. The provisions of section forty-three of "The Public Health Act, 1900," shall extend and apply to every such morgue. Section 43 of Public Health Act to apply.

4. When there is no public morgue situated within a distance of three miles from any public hospital, the dead-house of such hospital shall be deemed to be a public morgue, and the Superintendent or other person in charge of such hospital shall, at the request of any Justice of the Peace, or officer or constable of police, receive into such dead-house any dead body that may be brought thereto for the purpose of an inquest being held thereon; and for every dead body so received shall be paid the sum of one pound out of any money which may be appropriated for such purpose; and if such Superintendent or person in charge shall refuse to receive such dead body for the purpose aforesaid, he shall, on conviction thereof before any Justice of the Peace, forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding five pounds. In certain cases dead-house of hospital to be deemed a public morgue.

Public Morgues.

Exemption of licensed premises
within three miles
of morgue or dead-
house.

5. The provisions of section seventeen of "The Coroners Act, 1867," shall not apply to licensed premises situated within a distance of three miles from any public morgue, or from any hospital dead-house deemed to be a public morgue under the provisions of section four of this Act.
