A BILL INTITULED

AN ACT to suppress Tohungas.

Title.
Preamble.

WHEREAS designing persons, commonly known as tohungas, practise on the superstition and credulity of the Maori people by
5 pretending to possess supernatural powers in the treatment and cure of disease, the foretelling of future events, and otherwise, and thereby induce the Maoris to neglect their proper occupations and gather into meetings where their substance is consumed and their minds are unsettled to the injury of themselves and to the evil example of the 10 Maori people generally :

BE IT THEREFORE ENACTED by the General Assembly of New Zealand in Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows :—

TOHUNGA SUPPRESSION.

MEMORANDUM.

SECTION 240 of the Criminal Code Act, 1893, makes it an indictable offence punishable by one year's imprisonment to pretend to exercise or use any kind of witchcraft, sorcery, enchantment, or conjuration, or to undertake to tell fortunes. Section 49 of the Indictable Offences Summary Jurisdiction Act, 1894, provides that the same offences may be dealt with summarily, and are punishable by one month's imprisonment or a fine of five pounds. These provisions seem scarcely wide enough in their scope to cover the mischief dealt with in the present Bill, and special legislation seems advisable. The Maori Councils Act, 1900, gives certain limited powers of regulation and prohibition to Maori Councils in respect of tohungas. It is proposed to repeal this provision.
