Te Whanau-a-Taupara Trust Empowering Bill

Private Bill

As reported from the Māori Affairs Committee

Commentary

Recommendation

The Māori Affairs Committee has examined the Te Whanau-a-Taupara Trust Empowering Bill and recommends that it be passed with the amendments shown.

This is a private bill. We report that the statements in the preamble, after minor amendment, have been proved to our satisfaction.

Introduction

The Te Whanau-a-Taupara Trust Empowering Bill is a private bill in the name of the Hon Parekura Horomia. The bill seeks to dissolve the Waerenga-a-hika Trust, and constitute the Te Whanau-a-Taupara Trust in order to modernise administration and remove existing impediments to its effective operation. All assets of the Board are to be vested in the Trust.

The bill includes Schedule 1—a list of parcels of land administered by the Waerenga-a-hika Trust Board, and Schedule 2—the Deed of Trust.

We received one submission from the Waerenga-a-hika Trust Board and one from Te Whanau-a-Taupara, which identify a number of challenges facing them including:

- the need to modernise the administration of the Board
- restrictions imposed by ties to the Anglican Church

• constraints on self-governance.

We also received supplementary submissions in response to the issues raised.

Background to the bill

Te Whanau-a-Taupara represents a section of Te Aitanga-a-Mahaki iwi who hold mana whenua status over Waerenga-a-hika lands. These comprise approximately 245 hectares of predominantly pastoral land with an estimated value of $6.048 million currently held by the Waerenga-a-hika Trust Board.

In 1857 the land was given to the Crown by the Taupara whanau. The Crown in turn gave the land to the Bishop of New Zealand, who by deed of conveyance dated 28 April 1862 passed the Waerenga-ahika lands upon trust to the Bishop of Waiapu and certain other trustees for a school for Maori in connection with the Anglican Church. The school was destroyed by fire in 1937, and the trust funds were insufficient to rebuild the school.

The Waerenga-a-hika Trust Act 1947 (the 1947 Act) was enacted to vary and extend the trusts and to establish a new board to administer the amended trusts. With the enactment of the 1947 Act, the main object of the Trust became the provision of scholarships for the post-primary education of children, being Maori or descendants of Maori, but so that preference was given firstly to boys and girls of the Whanau-a-Taupara section of the Mahaki Tribe, and secondly to boys and girls of other sections of that tribe. The importance of education and self governance has been emphasised by the whanau, who seek to assert greater control over their assets and more effectively implement the Trust's core charitable and educational aims. The bill draws on examples of previous legislation in its attempt to address the identified problems, particularly on the Ngati Rarua-Atiawa Iwi Trust Empowering Act 1993.

Both submitters consider that the requirement of the 1947 Act for the Waerenga-a-hika Trust Board to be accountable to the Anglican Church is too restrictive. They acknowledge the relationship has been a harmonious one for many years, but consider it is no longer appropriate or necessary. The appointment of board members by the church effectively means the majority of the Board could be non-whanau and non-Maori. Both submissions also consider that the requirement that education grants made by the Board be made only for attendance at Anglican schools is difficult and increasingly expensive to fulfil. As there are no post-primary Anglican schools in the Gisborne area, children must be sent to boarding schools outside the district. Furthermore, there is sometimes a reluctance by non-Anglican whanau to send their children to Anglican schools. A report commissioned in 1993 by the Board supports this view, and states that the requirement of the 1947 Act restricts the Board's ability to offer significant support for the educational needs of many children within the hapu.

We agree that there is no necessity for the Trust to maintain close ties with the Anglican Church, and note that the Church is in agreement with the Trust's wishes in this respect.

Binding the Crown

We recommend the insertion of a new clause 4A, which provides that the Act bind the Crown. The clause is necessary as the public revenues may be affected by clauses 5 and 9 of the bill.

Blood ties

We recommend that clause 5 and its heading 'Charitable trusts' be deleted and replaced with a new clause headed 'Blood ties'.

Clause 5, in the bill as introduced, provides that 'The trusts declared in the trust deed are declared to be charitable trusts for all purposes at law.'

We asked Te Puni Kōkiri, the Inland Revenue Department, the Treasury, and the Parliamentary Counsel Office to provide a joint report on the issues raised by this clause. They informed us that, since September 1999, the Government's policy approach for charitable exemptions has been to have charitable status for tax purposes determined in accordance with general, statutory, and common law requirements, unless other Government policy objectives require otherwise.

This policy seemed to indicate that the clause should be deleted from the Bill. However, the promoters raised a particular issue in relation to this clause. It is a requirement of charity law that a sufficient section of the public needs to benefit if a purpose is to be charitable. However a section of the public that would otherwise satisfy the public benefit requirement will not satisfy that requirement if the members of the public concerned are related by blood. This issue is, in relation to the Income Tax Act 1994, being addressed by section 76 of the Taxation (Maori Organisations, Taxpayer Compliance and Miscellaneous Provisions) Act 2003.

Although that Act has now received the Royal assent, we consider that it will be useful to deal with the issue of blood ties on an interim basis in the Te Whanau-a-Taupara Trust Empowering Bill as the proposed clause 5 that we recommend is not limited to the question of the application of the Income Tax Act 1994.

The purpose of the clause 5 that we recommend is to ensure that, for the period specified in the clause, the fact that the beneficiaries under the trust deed are related by blood does not prevent the purposes of the trusts declared by the trust deed from complying with the public benefit requirement of the law relating to charitable trusts. This is consistent with advice given by the Inland Revenue Department, The Treasury, Te Puni Kōkiri, and the Parliamentary Counsel Office.

Roll of beneficiaries

Unlike the Deed of Trust set out in the Third Schedule to the Ngati Rarua Act, the Deed of Trust set out in Schedule 2 of the bill does not require the Trust to keep a roll of beneficiaries. The Board does have extensive records of families whom they consider meet the criteria for beneficiary status under the 1947 Act, and claims it intends to keep these records under review to ensure that they remain as accurate as possible.

Final accounts of the Waerenga-a-hika Trust Board

We recommend the insertion of a new clause 8A, which requires the Trustees to prepare final accounts of the existing Waerenga-a-hika Trust Board, and to ensure that copies of these and the auditor's report on those accounts are given to the persons who currently receive copies of the board accounts. A copy of those accounts and a copy of the auditor's report on them must be available for inspection by any beneficiary at the office of the Te Whanau-a-Taupara Trust at all reasonable times.

Review of trustees' decisions as to beneficiaries

We recommend the insertion into the bill of a new clause 10A.

Subclause (1) of the new clause provides that any decision made by the Trustees as to who is entitled to be a beneficiary of the Trust is subject to the review of the High Court of New Zealand on the application of any person affected directly or indirectly by the decision.

Subclause (1) is based on section 10 of the Ngati Rarua-Atiawa Iwi Trust Empowering Act 1993.

Subclause (2) of the new clause makes it clear that subclause (1) does not limit the right of a person to make an application to the High Court of New Zealand under section 67 or section 68 of the Trustee Act 1956 or any other provision of that Act.

Modifications of trust deed

We recommend the insertion into the bill of new clauses 10B to 10H, all of which modify to some extent provisions of the trust deed.

Trust property

The new clause 10B, effects, as from the commencement of the Act, minor modifications to clauses 1.1.1 and 1.1.2 of the trust deed.

Secondary purposes

The new clause 10C provides that, as from the commencement of the Act, the trust deed must be read as if certain words and provisions were omitted from clause 4.3 (which relates to the secondary purposes of the Trust). Our advisors questioned whether those words and provisions were charitable (within the legal meaning of that word).

Power to invest

The new clause 10D provides that, as from the commencement of the Act, the trust deed must be read as if subclause 5.1.6.1 of clause 5 were omitted from it. This omission will have the effect of applying to the Trustees the standard of care, diligence, and skill with regard to investment that is required of them by the provisions of the Trustee Act 1956.

Annual accounts and reports of auditors

The new clause 10E provides, in subclause (1), that the Trustees must ensure that both the annual accounts of Te Whanau-a-Taupara Trust and the reports of the auditors on those accounts are available for inspection by any beneficiary at the office of Te Whanau-a-Taupara Trust at all reasonable times.

Subclause (2) of the new clause makes, as from the commencement of the Act, consequential modifications to the trust deed.

Alterations and additions to the trust deed

The new clause 10F modifies clause 16 of the trust deed. That clause provides that the trust deed may be altered or added to at any meeting of the trustees subject to certain conditions.

Subclause (1)(a) of the new clause 10F means that, as from the commencement of the Act, the power conferred by clause 16 of the trust deed cannot be used to alter or add to clause 16 itself.

Subclause (1)(b) of the new clause 10F ensures that, as from the commencement of the Act, the majority required for an alteration or addition to the trust deed must be at least two-thirds of the number of the Trustees present and voting at the meeting.

Subclause (2) of the new clause 10F ensures that, as from the commencement of the Act, any alteration or addition that is made to the trust deed under clause 16 of the trust deed must, before it is made, be discussed at an Annual General Meeting of the Trust.

Dissolution and disposal of assets

The new clause 10G provides that, as from the commencement of the Act, the trust deed must be read as if clause 17 were omitted from it. The intention is that the deed should not make any express provision for the termination or dissolution of the Trust or the transfer of its assets to another charity.

We consider that clause 17.1 is unsatisfactory in that it gives the Trustees the power to terminate the Trust. It is unclear why the trust deed needed to empower the Trustees to terminate a long-standing institution. Furthermore, in view of the ongoing demand for education, and the expense of education, it is difficult to imagine a situation in which a trust that is primarily established to promote the educational needs of its beneficiaries, would have ever ultimately achieved its purpose. Consequently, we recommend the addition of clause 10G to ensure that no alteration or addition to the trust deed under clause 16.1 could result in the termination or dissolution of the Trust, or the transfer of its assets to another charity.

Restriction on liquidation under the Charitable Trusts Act 1957

For the same reasons the new clause 10H provides that, if the Trustees were to be incorporated as a board under Part II of the Charitable Trusts Act 1957, the Board would not be able to resolve to appoint a liquidator under section 24 of that Act, and neither the Board nor any member of the Board would be able to apply to have the Board put into liquidation under section 25 of that Act.

All of the modifications of the trust deed were agreed to by the promoters of the bill.
