Explanatory note

This note is not part of the regulations, but is intended to indicate their general effect.

This regulation, which comes into force on the 28th day after the date of its notification in the Gazette, amends the definition of commercial fisherman to include the term “commercial fisher”, which has been used in amending regulations to reflect a gender-neutral drafting style.

The amendment ensures that, regardless of the terminology used, the regulation applies to those who fish commercially, whether they are holders of a fishing permit or are fishing under the authority of another person’s permit.

Issued under the authority of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989.

Date of notification in Gazette: 28 June 2001.

These regulations are administered in the Ministry of Fisheries.
