EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM

This determination results from a review by the Higher Salaries Commission as at 1 July 1993 of Parliamentary salaries and allowances.

1. Background

1.1 The previous determination of Parliamentary salaries and allowances provided for an expiry date of 30 June 1993.

1.2 The Commission met the Members Services Committee and considered submissions from a number of quarters. The Commission had available to it a wide range of survey and other material including the results of a remuneration survey conducted by the Commission itself. All this information has been taken into account for the purposes of the present determination, as well as in the wider context of all the positions under the Commission's jurisdiction.

2. Salaries

2.1 The Commission operates within the criteria laid down by the Higher Salaries Commission Act 1977.

2.2 These include the need to achieve and maintain fair relativity with the levels of remuneration received elsewhere, and the need to be fair both to the persons or group of persons whose remuneration is being determined, and to the taxpayer. They include also the need to recruit and retain competent persons.

2.3 The Commission's task is to evaluate the positions. Evaluation of the persons from time to time occupying those positions is the right and duty of the electorate.

2.4 The Members Services Committee did not present a case for increasing Parliamentary salaries and left the matter to the independent judgment of the Commission.

2.5 In the Explanatory Memorandum appended to the previous determination the Commission identified specific reasons for its adoption of the adjustments then made. Those reasons still retain some force.

2.6 Information gathered from surveys and other sources indicates that salary increases in varying degrees have occurred during the year ended 30 June 1993. There remains, however, a continuing climate of restraint to which the Commission has paid full regard.

2.7 Having anxiously weighed and balanced its statutory criteria, the Commission has determined salaries as detailed in the First Schedule.

3. Allowances

3.1 The Commission has again undertaken a detailed examination of the allowances provided in earlier reviews.

3.2 These allowances are intended as reimbursement of costs incurred by Parliamentarians in providing the services electors expect of them. The Commission's role does not extend to administrative and support services which are provided by the Parliamentary Service.

3.3 Evidence derived from the public and private sectors indicates that allowances generally are not being increased, and the Members Services Committee did not seek any increases on this occasion.

3.4 The Commission has considered all relevant factors and has concluded that all allowances as last determined should this year remain unchanged.

Details of Allowances4. Members' Basic Expenses Allowance

4.1 The basic expenses allowance is the equivalent of recognised reimbursement practices in the private sector and is not unusual in the public sector. It is a convenient and economical way of providing for a wide range of expenses that are necessarily incurred.

4.2 Expenses intended to be covered include entertainment (constituents, visitors, officials, etc.), the cost of maintaining the standard of dress expected of a member in the House and elsewhere, subscriptions and fees, donations, koha, journals, and miscellaneous expenses.

5. Electorate Allowance

5.1 This largely covers the cost of travel within members' electorates on official business, including the many functions a member is expected to attend, and travel to places where problems have arisen for which a member's intervention is requested. Car operating costs are a major component of this allowance which is not payable in cases where a car is supplied to a member.

5.2 Electorates are classified, at the Commission's request, by the Representation Commission into four categories for General electorates, having regard to the difficulties and cost of providing a service to electors, Group A comprising electorates where travel is least onerous and Group D, at the other extreme, comprising those electorates where travel is most onerous. Maori electorates are divided into two categories in accordance with the same criteria.

6. Members' Day Allowance

6.1 This covers the costs of meals, hospitality, and related costs incurred by members on Parliamentary business.

6.2 Members have two main functions: to represent electors in Parliament and to serve electors within the geographical area they represent. Expenses related to the former function are linked essentially to attendance at the House for Parliamentary sessions, Select Committee hearings, Caucus Committees, and other meetings. In addition, members are frequently required to host visitors to Parliament from various organisations as well as their own constituents.

7. Members' Night Allowance

7.1 This allowance relates to overnight accommodation costs where members are required to be away from their homes on Parliamentary business.

7.2 In certain cases, members have purchased accommodation in Wellington. Provision is again made for these members and those who rent accommodation on a continuous basis to be reimbursed for such costs as rent, mortgage interest, rates, insurance, power and similar outgoings (but not capital payments) as an alternative to the nightly allowance reimbursement procedure.

7.3 Both the night allowance and the Wellington accommodation allowance are payable by way of reimbursement of actual and reasonable costs within prescribed limits.

8. Allowance for the purchase of a motor vehicle

8.1 This allowance provides for the capitalisation of the first year's electorate allowance payable to a member in the year following an election to enable the purchase of a motor vehicle for electorate purposes. The member taking up this option foregoes the first year's electorate allowance and receives an abated capital sum in lieu of that allowance.

9. Allowances for Members of the Executive and other office holders

9.1 Ministers of the Crown, Parliamentary Under-Secretaries, the Speaker, the Deputy Speaker (who also holds office as the Chairman of Committees), and the Leader and Deputy Leader of the Opposition do not receive the electorate allowance payable to members. They have access to chauffeur-driven cars and are provided with self-drive cars. They incur expenses including hospitality and entertainment, clothing, donations, and miscellaneous items. The expenses allowance they have received for many years remains unchanged.

9.2 The additional allowance to the Minister of Foreign Affairs and Trade remains payable as before.

10. Ministerial Travelling Allowance

10.1 The rates determined for this allowance, which is for travel and accommodation expenses incurred outside Wellington, remain as before.

11. Ministerial House Allowance

11.1 For many years, Ministers of the Crown have been provided with a house in Wellington, or, where a Minister is normally resident in Wellington, a modest house allowance. This allowance, together with a grant towards reimbursing a member of the Executive for expenses incurred in the maintenance of home and grounds in the member's electorate, is provided at the rate previously in force.

11.2 It should be noted that the provision of ministerial residences is not a function of the Higher Salaries Commission.

EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM—*continued*12. Definition

12.1 The term “Wellington commuting area” comprises the Cities of Wellington, Lower Hutt, Upper Hutt and Porirua and the Paraparaumu Ward of the Kapiti Coast District. Special circumstances applicable to the Kapiti electorate have been recognised in the provision of a limited night allowance.

Issued under the authority of the Acts and Regulations Publication Act 1989, and section 16 (2) of the Higher Salaries Commission Act 1977.

Date of notification in Gazette: 16 December 1993.
