(2) The following provisions of this Order shall come into force if such special entry is made as aforesaid, but not otherwise:

Provided that a certificate signed by the Commissioner and published in the Gazette to the effect that such a special entry has been duly made shall be conclusive evidence of the facts therein certified.

5. The date from which the conversion of existing debentures into new debentures shall take effect shall be the first day of April, one thousand nine hundred and forty-one.

Notice to Holders of Existing Securities.

6. The Commissioner shall cause a notice in the form numbered (1) in the Second Schedule hereto, together with a copy of this Order, to be forwarded by registered letter not later than the date of conversion to every holder of existing debentures to which this Order applies.

7. The conversion of any existing debentures into new debentures in accordance with this Order shall take effect whether or not the holder of the existing debentures consents to the conversion.

8. From the date of conversion the rights conferred by the existing debentures shall be deemed to be limited to a right to receive interest thereon up to the date of conversion and to a right to receive new debentures issued in accordance with this Order.
Surrender of Converted Debentures and Payment of Interest Thereon.

9. The holder of any existing debentures converted into new debentures shall not be entitled to demand payment of any interest (or in the case of any existing debentures payable by instalment, any instalment of principal and interest) payable in respect of the existing debentures, or to receive the new debentures or any interest thereon, until he has surrendered the existing debentures to the Commissioner.

10. Subject to the provisions of the last preceding clause, the interest on any such existing debentures for the period ending on the date of conversion shall be payable not later than one month from the date of conversion.

If any such new debenture is issued without coupons and default is made by the local authority in payment of any interest on any such debenture (whether or not a cheque has been issued for such interest), such interest shall be deemed to be a sum secured by a coupon which has not been paid upon due presentation thereof for payment.

(2) Except as provided in the last preceding subclause, separate coupons for each amount of interest payable on any debenture, in the form numbered (3) in the Second Schedule hereto, and numbered consecutively for each debenture, shall be attached thereto.

Such ballot shall be conducted at such place and under such conditions as may be determined by the Commissioner. The allocation of the new debentures as determined by such ballot shall be final and binding on all holders concerned.

Premiums.

15. No premium or discount shall be allowed in respect of the conversion of any of the existing debentures to which this Order applies.

Place for Payment of Principal and Interest.

16. The principal and interest in respect of new debentures shall be payable at such place or places in New Zealand as may be determined by the Commissioner, provided, however, that where any existing debentures confer on the holder thereof the right to receive payment of interest or principal in Australia and such right has not been surrendered by the holder, the Commissioner may in issuing new debentures in conversion of such existing debentures provide for the continuation of such right.

Consolidated Sinking Fund for New Debentures.

17. (1) In order to provide funds for the repayment of the new debentures the local authority shall forthwith make provision for the creation of a consolidated sinking fund, of which the Public Trustee shall be the Commissioner.

(2) For such purpose the local authority shall permanently appropriate and shall pay to the Commissioner of the consolidated sinking fund on each first day of January following the date of conversion up to and including the first day of January, one thousand nine hundred and seventy-eight a contribution of £3,276, increased in respect of each contribution, by a sum equal to three per centum of the aggregate amount of new debentures redeemable up to and including the first day of April preceding the date on which such contribution is payable.

Provided that in respect of any securities transferred to the Public Trustee by the Commissioners of any existing sinking fund pursuant to the provisions of clause eighteen hereof the Public Trustee may, pending the repayment of the moneys secured by such securities, make such charges for the collection of interest payable thereunder and otherwise for the management or realization of such securities as are for the time being prescribed in that behalf by regulations under the Public Trust Office Act, 1906.

(b) Secondly, in transferring the balance to the Commissioner of the consolidated sinking fund hereinbefore required to be created for the new debentures, to be held as part of that sinking fund.

Consolidated Special Rate.

19. (1) As security for the new debentures the local authority shall forthwith, by resolution gazetted (in the form numbered (4) in the Second Schedule hereto), make and levy two special rates over the whole of the district of the local authority to provide for the payment of interest, sinking fund, and other charges in respect of the new debentures. One of such special rates shall be made and levied in respect of the conversion of the existing debentures issued by the Thames Borough Council and shall be levied on the unimproved value of all rateable property of the said district, and the other special rate shall be made and levied in respect of the conversion of the existing debentures issued by the Thames Harbour Board and shall be levied on the capital value of all rateable property of the said district.
Provided that both of such rates or so much thereof as is necessary shall continue to be collected until the whole of the new debentures to be issued on conversion are fully paid off.

\textbf{NOTES ON THE WEATHER FOR JANUARY, 1941.}

\textbf{General Notes.}—The earlier part of the month was sunny and warm, the latter part unsettled and dull, especially over the North Island. Most districts received warm and beneficial rain, which has largely combated the effect of the drought that commenced at Christmas. Eastern districts have been refreshed and the vegetation has begun to grow, and most crops are now in blossom, although many are still suffering from premature ripening. On the whole, yields are good, with the exception of those in South Canterbury proceeding under ideal conditions.

\textbf{Rainfall.}—Rainfall was in excess over most of the North Island as well as in Nelson Province and in a small area of east Auckland. The principal rain was over the north-eastern part of the country and in the Auckland Province, many stations having very poor totals.

\textbf{General Weather.}—The fine, warm spell of the end of December pressure remained high over New Zealand, was followed by a cooler spell, with occasional north-easterly gales in Westland and about Cook Strait. On the 26th, however, a new and active cyclone from the west covered most of the Tasman Sea and, after crossing New Zealand, was located to the south-east on the 29th. During the end of this period considerable rain fell in and about the Southern Alps. There were south-easterly gales in Taranaki on the 22nd and in Auckland on the 24th, besides northerly gales in Westland and about Cook Strait on the 27th. During the last days rather changeable westerly weather was experienced in most districts, but fine anticyclonic conditions were established once more on the 31st.

\textbf{Direction of Wind.}—The direction of wind was generally from the north-west to west-south-west, with the exception of the Auckland Province, where the wind was generally from the south-east.

\textbf{Means.}—The mean temperature for the month was 64.8°F, and the mean rainfall was 41.4 per cent. of the possible. There were six days without bright sunshine being recorded.

\textbf{Pressure.}—The mean sea-level pressure was 1019.2 millibars, with a high pressure area of 1024.5 millibars over the North Island on the 21st and 22nd, and by the 26th it was filling up west of the North Island. On the 27th, however, the low pressure area extended over the South Island, and on the 29th it was filling up west of the North Island. On the 29th, however, a new and active cyclone from the west covered most of the Tasman Sea and, after crossing New Zealand, was located to the south-east on the 29th. During the end of this period considerable rain fell in and about the Southern Alps. There were south-easterly gales in Taranaki on the 22nd and in Auckland on the 24th, besides northerly gales in Westland and about Cook Strait on the 27th. During the last days rather changeable westerly weather was experienced in most districts, but fine anticyclonic conditions were established once more on the 31st.

\textbf{Mean Temperature (°F).}—The mean temperature was 64.8°F, with a high pressure area of 1024.5 millibars over the North Island on the 21st and 22nd, and by the 26th it was filling up west of the North Island. On the 27th, however, a new and active cyclone from the west covered most of the Tasman Sea and, after crossing New Zealand, was located to the south-east on the 29th. During the end of this period considerable rain fell in and about the Southern Alps. There were south-easterly gales in Taranaki on the 22nd and in Auckland on the 24th, besides northerly gales in Westland and about Cook Strait on the 27th. During the last days rather changeable westerly weather was experienced in most districts, but fine anticyclonic conditions were established once more on the 31st.
