for licenses. This is particularly desired in order that there should be no basic allocation of licences for which it is necessary to provide overseas funds. The fact that licences are not applied for will not prejudice importers in respect of allocations which might be granted in later periods.

Sixth Period licenses have been extended until 30th June, 1943, and they will be valid for imports up to that date.

Minister's Decisions under Sales Tax Act, 1932-33.

It is hereby notified for public information that the Minister of Customs has decided to interpret the Sales Tax Act, 1932-33 (hereinafter referred to as "the Act"), as under:

It should be understood that the decisions contained herein may be revised from time to time in the light of further information which may be obtained by the Minister.

| S. 22/27/3 | 48              | The following persons need not be licensed under the Act:—

(a) A wholesaler (not being the holder of a wine-maker's licence granted under section 11 of the Licensing Amendment Act, 1914), who satisfies the Collector that the total sale value of taxable goods sold by him during the last financial year of his business did not exceed £500 and that the estimated value of the taxable goods likely to be sold by him during the current financial year is not expected to exceed that sum, provided that this exemption shall not apply to any person unless he is the holder of a certificate of exemption for the time being in force issued to him by the Collector of Sales Tax upon application made in a form to be supplied by the Collector.

(Note. — Revises decision No. 2 (e) gazetted on 28th March, 1933.)

(b) A person having the holder of a wine-maker's licence granted under section 11 of the Licensing Amendment Act, 1914, who satisfies the Collector that the total sale value of the wine sold by him during the last financial year of his business did not exceed £100, and that the estimated value of the wine likely to be sold by him during the current financial year is not expected to exceed that sum, provided that this exemption shall not apply to any person unless he is the holder of a certificate of exemption for the time being in force issued to him by the Collector of Sales Tax upon application made in a form to be supplied by the Collector.

(c) A person manufacturing taxable goods, not being a "contractor" referred to in section 3 of the Sales Tax Amendment Act, 1933, who satisfies the Collector that:

(1) That the total sale value of the taxable goods manufactured by him during the preceding twelve months did not exceed £500, and that the estimated sale value of the taxable goods likely to be manufactured by him during the next ensuing twelve months is not expected to exceed that sum; or

(2) That the proportion of the selling-price of taxable goods manufactured by him during the preceding twelve months represented by his labour, overhead, and profit did not exceed £250, and that such proportion of the selling-price of taxable goods manufactured by him during the next ensuing twelve months is not expected to exceed that sum, provided that this exemption shall not apply to any person unless he is the holder of a certificate of exemption for the time being in force issued to him by the Collector of Sales Tax upon application made in a form to be supplied by the Collector.

For the purposes of this decision the sale value of goods manufactured shall in all cases be deemed to be the fair market value of such goods as if they were sold to a retailer in the ordinary course of business, and not the sale value as ascertained or determined in pursuance of the proviso in paragraph (b) of subsection (1) of section 13 of the Act.

(Note. — Revises decision No. 34 (1) gazetted on 7th March, 1935.)

Notes on the Weather for May, 1942.

General Notes.—May was an unsettled month, with the poorest weather during the first portion to the south of Taranaki and a stormy spell in the south on the east coast. Although there were exceptions, overcast skies, frequent rain, and excessive wind were features in most districts. Stock have fared satisfactorily. Growth has almost ceased, and outdoor farm-work has made little progress.

Rainfall.—While the rainfall over most of the Auckland and Hawke's Bay Provinces was slightly below average, totals elsewhere were in excess. In South Westland and between Timaru and Masterton falls were greater than usual, and in some cases, three times the average. It was the wettest May for many years, and several long-standing records were broken. Exceptionally heavy rain fell on the 24th in the Christchurch vicinities and caused considerable flooding.

Temperatures were mainly slightly milder than normal, departures being about 1° Fahrenheit above the normal climate. Cloud and wind frequently kept the diurnal range small, but towards the end of the month hard frosts were experienced in clear areas, notably the west and south of the South Island. The chief periods of snowfall in the high country were the 5th to 12th and the 24th to 26th.

Sunshine was about normal in Southland and slightly better than normal in Auckland and Hawke's Bay Provinces, but elsewhere there was a marked lack of sunshine, with new records for dullness in Wellington and Christchurch.

Weather Sequences.—During the first five days an anticyclone was centred near the Auckland Peninsula while a series of westerly disturbances passed in the south, giving periods of rain affecting chiefly the west coast of the South Island. In a low-pressure trough an active depression developed during the 7th and 8th and gave extensive rain, with considerable falls in western and central districts. Pressure remained low in the New Zealand area, but conditions improved temporarily, rain becoming more general again on the 15th.

A new depression developed in the west, and as it deepened strong north-easterly or northerly winds increased to gale force in many parts of the North Island. Widespread rain accompanied the southward passage of this depression, which moved away from New Zealand by the 17th, when the weather improved.

On the 19th a low-pressure trough reached New Zealand bringing a strong southerly change, after which there was a rapid improvement. An anticyclone passed across on the 21st, but was followed on the 22nd by a depression which developed off the west coast and caused heavy gales, with fairly general rain and drizzle. On a secondary disturbance on the 24th a centre formed over the North Island, and as it deepened strong southerly prevailed giving gales in the east coast of the South Island and over the Wellington Province. Under the influence of this active and extensive rain persisted in eastern districts, where there were some very heavy falls, but to the west of the Southern Alps and in South Auckland Province cool, clear weather prevailed. The depression passed eastward of Chatham Islands on the 26th, while an anticyclone centred in high latitudes extended on to the South Island. Winds, except at first in Taranaki where they increased to gale force, slowly moderated, but scattered showers persisted between Christchurch and East Cape.

By the 28th winds were more easterly. A depression passing to the north north-easterly and some gales in the Auckland Province, and rain fell over most of the North Island.
