THE NEW ZEALAND MILITARY FORCES 1927,
Amendment No. 63

Pursuant to the Defence Act, 1909, the Governor-General doth hereby make the following regulations:

REGULATIONS

1. (1) These regulations may be cited as the Regulations for the New Zealand Military Forces 1927, Amendment No. 63, and shall be read together with and deemed part of the Regulations for the New Zealand Military Forces 1927* (hereinafter referred to as the principal regulations).

(2) These regulations shall come into force on the day following the date of their publication in the Gazette.

2. The principal regulations are hereby amended by adding the following heading and regulations:

"Compensation for Loss of or Damage to Service Kit and Personal Effects"

977. In these regulations, unless the context otherwise requires,

- "Equipment" includes instructional books, instruments, and tools essential to an officer or soldier in the proper performance of his duties;

- "Investigating officers" means officers appointed to investigate claims for compensation under these regulations;

- "Personal effects" means personal effects other than uniform, regulation kit, or equipment;

- "Prescribed" means prescribed by Army Standing Orders;

- "Regulation kit" means articles of kit prescribed in the principal regulations or in Army Orders for persons other than male officers of the Permanent Forces of the New Zealand Army Nursing Service;

- "Uniform" means articles of service clothing required by a member of the Permanent Forces of the New Zealand Army Nursing Service in the proper performance of his or her duties.

978. Subject to the provisions of these regulations, an officer or soldier who suffers any loss of or damage to his uniform, regulation kit, equipment, or personal effects shall be entitled to compensation therefor by way of cash payment or replacement in kind.

979. Compensation shall not be awarded in respect of:

(a) Loss of money;

(b) Loss by theft except where the articles stolen have been properly accepted for safe custody by the Army;

(c) Loss of or damage to articles transported for other than military reasons by passage in any vehicle, ship, merchant vessel, or aircraft;

(d) Loss of or damage to articles carried by an officer or soldier while on leave.

980. (1) Every claim for compensation under these regulations shall be made in the prescribed manner within thirty days of the date of the loss or damage.

(2) Every claim made after the expiry of the time hereinafter provided shall be liable to be rejected, unless a reasonable explanation is given for the delay.

981. Every claimant for compensation under these regulations shall, on making his claim, enter into an undertaking in the prescribed form to the effect—

(a) That, in the event of compensation being awarded to him under these regulations in respect of any article, he will, if required, refund to the Crown any amount recovered by him in respect of that article or any policy of insurance (less the premium required to restore the policy to its original cover value), and also any amount recovered by him from any other person in respect of that article, but that the total amount refunded does not exceed the amount or value of the compensation awarded; and

(b) That, in the event of any article being recovered after compensation has been awarded in respect of its loss, he will, subject to Regulation 988 hereof, forthwith return to the War Department the article issued in replacement thereof or restore the undamaged article to the possession of the person who made the claim, with the value of the article so issued, or, as the case may be, refund the amount of compensation paid in respect of the article so recovered.

982. Every claim for compensation under these regulations shall be investigated by investigating officers appointed for the purpose, who shall not recommend the awarding of compensation on any claim unless they are satisfied that—

(a) The loss or damage is attributable to the service of the officer or soldier;

(b) The officer or soldier concerned did everything in his power to prevent the loss or damage;

(c) The officer or soldier concerned was in no way responsible for the loss or damage; and

(d) Any articles of uniform, regulation kit, or equipment to which the claim relates were required by the officer or soldier concerned for the proper performance of his duties; and

(e) Any articles of equipment to which the claim relates, not being articles on issue from the Army, were not reasonably available on Army issue.

983. The compensation awarded for the loss or damage to personal effects shall in no case exceed—

(a) £20 for any one item;

(b) £150 in the aggregate on any claim by an officer;

(c) £100 in the aggregate on any claim by a soldier.

984. The awarding of any compensation under these regulations shall—

(a) Be subject to approval by the Army Secretary;

(b) In all other cases, be subject to approval by the Minister.

985. Where any damaged articles of uniform, regulation kit, equipment, or personal effects are considered by the investigating officers to be unserviceable, compensation may, subject to these regulations and on the recommendation of the investigating officers, be paid as if the damaged articles had been entirely destroyed, instead of being paid only in respect of the damage.

986. Where an officer or soldier who has made a claim for compensation under these regulations has been satisfied, whether by payment or by replacement, a report of the circumstances shall be forwarded by his commanding officer to Army Headquarters for consideration and for any necessary adjustment in assessing the compensation (if any).

987. Where an officer or soldier who has made a claim for compensation under these regulations dies before the claim has been satisfied, no compensation shall be payable in respect of any articles of uniform, regulation kit, or equipment.
Provided that the claimant has incurred expenditure in replacing, and that article is subsequently recovered, the officer or soldier concerned shall forthwith return to the Army Department with the value of the article so issued, or, as the case may be, the amount of compensation paid in respect of the article so recovered:

Provided that, if the article so recovered is in a damaged condition, the officer or soldier may claim compensation in respect of the damage at any time within thirty days after the date of its recovery.

The procedure to be followed in making a claim for compensation under these regulations, the information to be included in any such claim, the method of assessing compensation, whether by payment or by replacement, and the conditions to apply to the awarding and satisfaction of compensation, shall be as prescribed by Army Standing Orders.

4. Regulation 637 of the principal regulations is hereby revoked.
