and there was a modest surplus in Elsewhere totals were below average with a large deficit east to that of the previous two months. In Westland the total of the North Island ranges, especially in Hawke’s Bay and the departure from normal was, in places, even greater. This general pattern has been similar in its essential characteristics to that of the previous two months. In Waipara, and Hawke’s Bay Provinces, being reported in some districts during the passage of a storm which moved across the country causing light rain over a wide area during the first two days. Southerly winds and cool showery weather developed in the south on the 3rd and advanced slowly northwards, while a depression from the Tasman Sea moved north across Northland on the 4th.

The arrival of a large anticyclone over the South Island on the 5th brought a spell of fine warm weather, except for some showers in eastern districts of the Auckland Province where light rain continued to fall intermittently and some minor flooding and disturbance centred far to the north-east. Temperatures became temporarily cooler on the east coast of the South Island on the 3rd and a few showers fell.

A ridge of high pressure persisted over the Dominion until the 10th, although by then the anticyclone was centred far beyond the Chatham Islands and southerly winds in the south on the 11th as a trough began to move slowly eastwards across the country. The weather deteriorated rapidly in the North Island and in eastern districts of the South Island. A low-pressure centre within the trough moved slowly across Northland on the 12th and next day another centre developed off East Cape. On the 14th an anticyclone cell was centred just south-east of Southland and south-eastern winds had become general. This cell slowly collapsed while another, centred over the Taieri Estuary, and later passed across the North Island on the 15th. Conditions improved in the North Island on the 17th, but showers persisted about and east of the main ranges. Isolated showers were also reported from Canterbury and Marlborough up to the 19th.

By the 20th the main high-pressure centre had intensified still further and was located well to the east of New Zealand.

Weather Sequence.—Though pressures were relatively high across Northland at the beginning of the month, a shallow trough lying across the country caused light rain over a wide area during the first two days. Southerly winds and cool showery weather developed in the south on the 3rd and advanced slowly northwards, while a depression from the Tasman Sea moved north across Northland on the 4th.

heavy rainfalls were reported east of the Manawatu Gorge on the night of the 27th when the depression was centred over Northland. Presures had been rising slowly but steadily in the south and on the 27th an anticyclone moved over the South Island.

The weather began to improve in the North Island on the 28th as the depression moved away to the north, but many thunderstorms were reported during that afternoon in the Auckland Province.

With the collapse of the anticyclone over New Zealand on the 29th, highest pressures were to be found over the North Tasman Sea. A weak cold front associated with a depression far to the south crossed the South Island on the 30th, causing a few showers in the west and south. At the end of the month a weak anticyclone lay to the north of the Dominion, while a vigorous depression which had suddenly developed in the Tasman Sea was rapidly approaching Southland.

Distributors' Prices

16. (1) Every distributor or other wholesaler who sells any potatoes to which this Order applies shall specify in the relevant invoices, with respect to each item, the weight and the grade of the potatoes comprised in the lot of potatoes sold by him.

(2) For the purposes of this clause the term "grade" with respect to any lot of potatoes shall mean, in the case of potatoes sold by a grower as "good table" or as "fancy" or "under-grade."

(3) Where no grade is specified in any invoice, the potatoes referred to in the invoice, shall, for the purpose of this order be deemed to be "under-grade."

The provisions of this paragraph shall not notwithstanding that in any case the retailer purports to sell any potatoes otherwise than by weight.

Any authority given by the Tribunal under this clause may apply with respect to a retailer in obtaining delivery from the source of supply that is nearest or most convenient of access to him.

9. Every retailer who offers or exposes any potatoes to which this Order applies for sale in any shop shall keep in a prominent position in such proximity to the potatoes to be so obviously descriptive thereof a ticket, price-list, or label on which shall be stated in legible and prominent characters the retail price per pound of the potatoes.
