Timber Preservation Regulations 1955: Branding and Identification of Preservative Treated Timber

PURSUANT to regulation 12 of the Timber Preservation Regulations 1955,* notice is hereby given that, subject to the exemptions provided herein, timber which has been preservative treated as provided in the said regulations shall be branded or identified in the manner herein described.

1. All preservative treated timber shall be branded on or at one end with a clearly legible brand in block letters not less than $\frac{3}{8}$ in. high. The brand shall include the registered number of the plant allocated by the Timber Preservation Authority. Timbers exempt from this requirement are:

- (a) Fencing materials.
- (b) Timber in sizes less than 2 in. by 1 in. section.

2. Each piece of timber preservative treated with a colourless preservative shall have its surface completely coloured by a red dye or other red colouring material.

3. Where preservative treated timber is subsequently processed to become scantlings which are planer-gauged four sides, weatherboards, or flooring, each piece of timber so processed in random length form shall be branded at least once not less than 12 in. from one end with an incised or permanently inked brand indicating that the timber has been preservative treated.

In the case of weatherboards and flooring the brand preferably shall be impressed on the back of the board.

Dated at Wellington this 26th day of September 1958.

E. H. CLAYTON,

Secretary, Timber Preservation Authority.
