Supplementary data sunshine: Foxton, 252 hrs, Kaiaura, 164 hrs, and Oamaru, 166 hrs.

Note: At stations where departures from normal have an asterisk, the temperature record has been maintained for less than 10 years, the rainfall record for less than 20 years. Rainfall normals have been revised and now refer to the standard period 1921–50. Where observations are not available for the whole period, or where the site of the rain gauge has been changed, the normals are partly interpolated.

NOTES ON THE WEATHER FOR FEBRUARY 1962

General: February was for the most part dry and sunny. In parts of western Northland there was a severe shortage of food for stock and dairy production was being seriously affected, as in January. Elsewhere conditions varied, but in many areas farmers were finding the weather rather too dry. There were a few reports of facial eczema from the Waikato district, both in sheep and cattle.

Rainfall: Rainfall was appreciably below average over the greater part of the country. It was less than half over the northern half of the South Island; and also in central and southern Hawke's Bay and parts of the eastern Bay of Plenty and the Auckland district. In Marlborough few stations received even a quarter of the normal amount.

Two comparatively cool spells associated with winds from a southerly quarter occurred from about the 5th to the 7th and the 13th to the 16th. During the first of these spells snow was reported on the ranges in Canterbury down to 3,000 ft.

Sunshine: Sunshine was above average except in most of Canterbury, Otago, and Southland, and parts of Bay of Plenty. Greatest surpluses, exceeding 30 hours, were recorded in western districts of both islands, but elsewhere they were close to or slightly below average.

Temperatures: Temperatures were 1 to 2 degrees above average in western and northern districts of both islands, but elsewhere they were close to or slightly below average.

Two comparatively cool spells associated with winds from a southerly quarter occurred from about the 5th to the 7th and the 13th to the 16th. During the first of these spells snow was reported on the ranges in Canterbury down to 3,000 ft.

NOTICE is hereby given that the land described in the Schedule hereto has been acquired under the Forests Act 1949 as permanent State forest land.
