press and the advertisements appear to be intended to attract homosexuals or to promote or encourage homo-sexuality. We had evidence that such magazines were often to be found in the possession of known homosexuals and that schanty, we had be valence that shown homosexuals and that to be found in the possession of known homosexuals and that they had on occasions been used by men to inveigle younger men into homosexual practices. We accept Mr Barnard's statement that he was quite unaware that the magazines were of this character. He stated that he had not scrutinised them personally and that no member of his staff of 10 (including-some women) had ever made any adverse comment. Nevertheless we regard them – except for one – as so objection-able as to warrant condemnation as indecent and injurious to the public welfare. We have in previous decisions referred to the difficulty of assessing the standard of the community but-since in our view four of these magazines are designed to appeal to or to encourage homosexuality, which in New Zealand is a criminal offence, we are bound to hold them indecent with the meaning of the Statute. We except the magazine Tomorrow's Man which is concerned mainly with body building and physique and has not features that the others display.

body building and Payson others display. Accordingly we classify each of the magazines other than Tomorrow's Man as indecent and so report. At the hearing we made an interim order forbidding the publication of the names of the magazines; this we now

We make no order as to costs. In conclusion we desire to state that we recognise that In conclusion we desire to state that we recognise that this decision may by inference be considered applicable to future issues of the magazines which we have held to be indecent unless their character is significantly modified in the light of this decision. That is, of course, a question that may or may not hereafter be pursued. Meanwhile the tribunal bases its decision upon the particular issues which it had before it before it.
