

Electrical Wiring Regulations 1961—Electrical Apparatus Which May Constitute an Electrical Hazard

PURSUANT to regulation 8 of the Electrical Wiring Regulations 1961, notice is hereby given that:

1. The appliance described below may in my opinion, constitute an electrical hazard.

Description: Electrically-operated hair clipper model KT, fitted with 3-core flexible cord and 3-pin flat-pin plug.

Trade Name: K.S.

Manufacturer: Kato Electric Co. Ltd., Tokyo, Japan.

2. The possible electrical hazard arises from—

(a) The omission of an earth connection to an exposed metal cover plate. Such earthing is considered to be a necessary safety precaution to prevent the plate becoming live.

(b) The earth-continuity conductor of the flexible cord is not identifiable by the colour green or green and yellow combination in accordance with regulation 61 of the Electrical Wiring Regulations 1961.

(c) The plug fitted to the appliance is similar in construction to two-piece rubber and thermoplastic plugs prohibited from use in New Zealand. The cover is considered likely to slip off accidentally and thus expose live terminals.

3. Every person who sells or offers for sale any apparatus which in the opinion of the General Manager of the New Zealand Electricity Department constitutes or may constitute an electrical hazard commits an offence and shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding £20.

4. All persons who have purchased a K.S. electrically-operated hair clipper as described above are advised to refrain from using same until all the possible electrical hazards referred to have been removed.

Dated at Wellington this 4th day of March 1966.

E. B. MACKENZIE,

General Manager, New Zealand Electricity Department.
(8/0/2/8)
