Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

No. 114

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963 and in the matter of an application to the Tribunal for a decision in respect of the book Querelle of Brest, by Jean Genet; translated from the French by Gregory Streatham, and published by Anthony Blond Ltd., London. NZ$3.10.

DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL

THIS book has been considered by the Tribunal upon the application of the Secretary for Justice. No submissions were received from the applicant, but written submissions from the distributor, Whitcombe and Tombs Ltd., of Christchurch, were considered.

Genet is a writer whose prestige is very high in his own country, France, and whose work in translation has had a wide influence abroad. His autobiographical book The Thief's Journal has long been available here in paperback; his semi-novels Our Lady of the Flowers and Miracle of the Rose have been published in an edition uniform with the present volume; at least two of his plays, Death Watch and The Maids, and possibly others as well, have been performed in New Zealand theatres; in any event their texts are freely accessible in paperback editions in our bookshops and libraries. And despite the sordid nature of his subject matter, in particular his preoccupation with crime, prostitution, and homosexuality, this
