Decisions of the Indecent Publications Tribunal
No. 184–187
In the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application to the Tribunal for decisions in respect of the following books, all published by Lancer Books Incorporated, New York—
The Secret Diary of Ho Chi Minh's Daughter.
Bestseller
Mistress of Bayou Labelle.
My Secret Life with Older Women.

DECISIONS OF THE TRIBUNAL
These books have been considered by the Tribunal upon the application of the Comptroller of Customs. In respect of each book the Tribunal decides as follows:
This paper-back book, the true authorship of which is described as a literary mystery, purports to tell the story of a young Vietnamese girl who, after seduction by a priest, becomes a prostitute in Saigon. Finally, by blackmail, she induces a U.S. serviceman to marry her and take her to New York. After her marriage has broken up she resumes her former way of life.
The emphasis throughout is on sex, perversion, and homo-sexual practices and the narrative is so presented as to be calculated to excite prurient interest. The title is misleading, for the basis of the young woman’s relationship with Ho Chi Minh is clearly a fabrication.
The Tribunal is of the opinion that the book is indecent within the meaning of the Act, and classifies it accordingly.
Bestseller, by Toni Friedman.
This paper-back book is described on its suggestive cover as ‘The electrifying, sensational novel of a genuine, 24 carat, all-American bitch’.
It certainly measures up to this description in its detailed account of the sexual adventures of a young lady who wrote a best seller. The emphasis is on sex, presented in a false and debased light. Drug-taking and various perversions are added for good measure, to complete a sordid picture which is quite meretricious and could very well be harmful.
We classify it as indecent.
Mistress of Bayou Labelle, by Lou Cameron.
This paper-back tells the story of a New Orleans prostitute who, by deceit and murder, gains title to a plantation. It is highly coloured, but not entirely without merit, set as it is against a background which provides a picture of plantation life at the time. The author has, however, thought fit to include descriptions of sexual torture and other features which we consider are presented in a manner calculated to exploit prurient interest. It offends against almost every provision of the Act which we are obliged to take into account.
We classify it as indecent.
My Secret Life with Older Women, by James Blaine.
This paper-back tells of the sexual adventures of a young ‘spit’ in the field of gerontophilia. It portrays in crude terms how this hero, by his sexual progress with older and thwarted women, extracts from them extensive wealth. It ends with a gloating description of a shockingly violent murder in the midst of a sexual orgy. Its whole tone is antisocial.
It is clearly indecent and we classify it as such.
F. McCARTHY, Deputy Chairman.
24 November 1969.

Decisions of the Indecent Publications Tribunal
No. 179–183
In the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by Murdock Riley, of Wellington, company director, as agent for the publishers, for decisions in respect of the following books—
A Courier’s Caresses: Coupled.
Sexualis ’69.
Between Two Women.
My Bed is Not for Sleeping.

DECISIONS OF THE TRIBUNAL
The application is made by leave of the Acting Minister of Justice. Mr Downey appeared in support of the application.
In respect of each book the Tribunal decides as follows:
A Courier’s Caresses: a paper-back book, written by Anne Torine and published by Brandon House, of California. The price of the book in New Zealand is $2.50. Despite a psychological and semi-philosophical introduction, entitled
I, John Lochiel Robson, of Wellington, Secretary for Justice, give notice that I have applied to the Indecent Publications Tribunal for a decision as to whether the book Pornography Compliant, by Philip Roth, published by Jonathan Cape Ltd., London, is indecent or not, or for a decision as to its classification.
