Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

No. 204

In the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application to the Tribunal, under section 12 (1) of the said Act, by the Magistrate's Court at Auckland and of a reference by the Magistrate's Court at Hamilton for a decision and report in terms of the said section in respect of Capping Magazine Auckland 1969 published by the Auckland University Students Association Incorporated.

Mr Skelton for Waikato and King Country Press Ltd. and the East Waikato Publishers Ltd., the printers and commercial matter of an application to the Tribunal. Documents of which the Tribunal would not approve are probably so circulating; but we are more convinced that the magazine is not indecent. We were named as the free circulation in the community which have not been referred to the front and back covers. In our view these are no more than a harmless frolic incapable of arousing prurient feelings. We do not consider they contravene the statute.

The actual profit was something over $5,000. A further edition was achieved, it was decided not to reprint.

Possible questions of libel and assault on religion were raised, on the publication of the book, in terms of the Act, and its pervasive wit and humour, finally exhibited in the psychiatrist's comment, at the end of the monologue—"So. Now we may perhaps begin. Yes?"

The Tribunal decides this book is not indecent for adults but divided on the question of an age restriction. The majority of the Tribunal believes that an understanding of the effects of an exaggerated feeling of guilt (over such things as masturbation) and of non-communication between parents and children may be of positive value to some adolescents. The Chairman and Mr Johnston, however, consider that the book should be restricted in its circulation to persons over the age of 17. Their view is that young readers are unlikely to perceive the satiric and pathetic dimensions of Roth's portrayal of Portnoy so that the intimacy, verve, and gusto of certain episodes in Portnoy's highly readable monologue could easily have a disturbing impact on them. They refer to Roth's comment, "My hope was to raise obscenity to the level of a subject", as making clear the sophisticated nature of the author's seeking to be a sophisticated beyond younger readers. They consider that the interests of adult readers and juvenile readers are best served by an age restriction.

The opinion of the majority prevails and the book is therefore decided to be not indecent.

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

No. 198

In the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application to the Tribunal for a decision in respect of the book Sex Turned On, by Richard Eastman, published by Softcover Library Ltd., 33 Beauchamp Place, London.

DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL

This novel has been widely and highly praised by competent American and English reviewers, and it deserves their praises; mostly, if not wholly. It is a remarkable study of the portrait of the father-alcoholic relations with his Jewish parents and sister: the mother, a domestic tyrant and torturer always acting on the highest motives; the father affectionately aloof from his son of his faith's meekness (or at least stimulated by them) in masturbation, and to his obsession by a feeling of guilt, which troubles him throughout his sexual adventures. He emerges from them, however, enjoyed, conscience stricken, and wondering why he should be, when he has only done what many do without this sense of guilt. He ends up on the psychiatrist's couch, and the novel is the story of his monologue, which verbally and factually deploys these adventures in the frankest terms. No holds or four-letter words barred. And this, no doubt, is why the book has been referred to the Tribunal. At this hearing, Mr Savage, of the Crown Law Office, drew our attention to two features which, in his view, would make the book indecent. We consider that the interests of adult readers and juvenile readers are best served by an age restriction.

Decisions of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

No. 201

In the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application to the Tribunal for a decision in respect of the book Portnoy's Complaint, by Philip Roth, published by Jonathan Cape Ltd., London.

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

This is a paper-backed novel, in cheap format, which relates the moral decline of a girl contemporary with that of the book, in terms of the Act, and its pervasive wit and humour, finally exhibited in the psychiatrist's comment, at the end of the monologue—"So. Now we may perhaps begin. Yes?"

The Tribunal decides this book is not indecent for adults but divided on the question of an age restriction. The majority of the Tribunal believes that an understanding of the effects of an exaggerated feeling of guilt (over such things as masturbation) and of non-communication between parents and children may be of positive value to some adolescents. Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL

This paper-back book is described on its front cover as "A close-up view of Sexuality in our Permissive Society", the scientifically clinical tone of which is enhanced by the melodramatic title. A similar previration as to the intention, scope, and approach of the book is found on the back cover, where the book is claimed to be both an "investigation" and "a whistle-stop journey through the world of perversions, commercial sex, teenage and post-teenage promiscuity". The dominant impression of this cover material is that the book is aimed at being excitingly inclusive in its account of sexual experience rather than concerned to explore in any sustained way the complex of issues—moral, psychological, social—that sexuality involves along with physical relationships. It is "an investigation of the scores of different varieties of contemporary sexual behaviour and their enthusiastic followers".

In certain other books of comparable format and presentation the Tribunal has found that the authors have mispresented the tone and method of the book itself, and a redeeming seriousness of treatment was identified. In the present case this is not so. There is an argument to justify the judgment that the title makes on contemporary society, and the terms "perversion", "permissiveness", and "sexual freedom" are used indiscriminately, and even interchangeably, in the confused discussion of the sexual experiences and practices which are reported from "case-histories", "confessions", and other writings.

The author is an advocate of "sexual freedom" and this advocacy proceeds without any coherent recognition of the cruel, sadistic, and debasing aspects of some of the behaviour he surveys, as in the chapters "Variety is the Spice of Life" and "Anything Goes". The practices he reports on are all candidates, it seems, for liberation from the "retrogressive opinion" that forbids them. Each person's sexual taste should have an accepted place in society. Accordingly, we find incest discussion in the following way "The great prohibition against..."

The absence of any dimension other than the physically sexual in this passage is characteristic of the book's treatment of personal relationships as a whole; and, together with the prurient appeal to curiosity in the use made of "confessions", etc. it compels the view that it deals with sex in a manner which is trivial and injurious. We therefore classify it as indecent.

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

No. 200

DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL

This book is not an easy one to classify. It is a publication of Souvenir Press, consisting of an explanatory text on the techniques of sexual love illustrated by 42 photographs. These are naturally disturbing because of the intimacy of the subject but they all show restraint and delicacy in the photographing and they all express a tenderness and repose that suggest love in more than its physical aspects. Production and format are dignified and of good quality.

We are required by the Act to consider what groups of persons could be harmed or helped by the book under consideration.

Some would argue that this book could be overstimulating, even exciting, to young persons; but the knowledge is given straightforwardly, and its general tone could counteract in a salutary way the cheap incitements to casual sex seen every day in advertisements and magazines on screens. Moreover, we recognise that any good thing can be put to improper use.

On the other hand, and more positively, there are people who withhold because of a lack of imagination, an inhibiting upbringing, or plain ignorance, have found that their sexual experience in an otherwise good marriage has become more routine. Such couples could well find help here, and for them too the photographs are justified, not only because of their honesty and grace but because so many people find the printed word much harder to follow than the visual image.

There is nothing indecent in the book, nor any of a standard inferior to this, but we think there is a place and a use for this one.

We consider the book is not indecent in the hands of mature readers; but, because of its nature we think some restriction on its availability should be made. We decide that it is indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 16 years, unless such persons are being instructed by parents or professional advisors.

L. G. H. SINCLAIR, Chairman.

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

No. 203

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of a reference to the Tribunal, under section 12 (1) of the said Act, by the Magistrate's Court at Wellington for a decision and order in respect of the July issue of the magazine Cock, published by C. R. Wheeler, of Wellington.

DECISION AND REPORT

In this matter the Tribunal has had the benefit of submissions from Mr R. C. Savage, of the Crown Law Office, for the Police Department; Mr C. R. Wheeler, described as the editor, publisher, and printer of the journal, appeared on his own account. Mr Wheeler trades under the name of the Cockrel Press.

The circulation of the journal is some 3,000 and the price is 20c. Distribution is principally in the grounds of universities, in hotels, through a few socialist bookshops, and by subscription.

The journal came before the Tribunal by way of reference from the Magistrate's Court, Wellington: the charge there was that of printing an indecent document.

At the hearing, attention was directed particularly to a satirical two-page centre-spread, a cartoon entitled "Phonus Balonus", and to a cartoon inside the back cover. Both were unpleasant; each had an element of satire. Other less extensive features, minimal in size, came within the matters proper to be considered by the Tribunal.

We are concerned only with indecency of the kinds contemplated by the Act, vide para. 176 in the matter of Maskerade 1969, delivered 28 October 1969 and gazetted 6 November 1969, pp. 2217-8. In this decision we cited and followed, on this point, the decision of the majority of the Full Court in Robson v. Hicks Smith and Sons Ltd., [1964], N.Z.L.R. 1113, pp. 1119 and 1122.

NOTICE OF PRIVATE BILL

THE AUSTRALIA AND NEW ZEALAND BANKING GROUP BILL

Australia and New Zealand Bank Limited hereby gives notice that it intends to apply for leave to bring in the above-mentioned Private Bill during the present session of Parliament.

The object of the Bill is to supplement the Australia and New Zealand Banking Group Act 1970 of the Parliament of the United Kingdom by making the transfer of the undertakings of Australia and New Zealand Bank Limited to Australia and New Zealand Banking Group Limited fully effective in New Zealand.

The said Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdom deals with the merger of the undertakings of Australia and New Zealand Bank Limited and The English, Scottish and Australian Bank, Limited, which is accomplished by the transfer of those undertakings to Australia and New Zealand Banking Group Limited. Legislation is the only means by which the transfer can be effected efficiently and economically, and without interference with the conduct and continuity of the business of banking; but the said Act of the Parliament of the United Kingdom is not wholly effective in achieving its objects in New Zealand because the transfer of certain assets is governed by the law of New Zealand.
The Bill now being promoted is designed to transfer the undertaking in New Zealand of Australia and New Zealand Bank Limited to Australia and New Zealand Banking Group Limited. (The English, Scottish and Australian Bank, Limited does not carry on business in New Zealand.)

On a day to be appointed, all the assets, liabilities, and obligations (except certain excluded assets) of Australia and New Zealand Bank Limited will become assets, liabilities, and obligations of Australia and New Zealand Banking Group Limited. Customers of Australia and New Zealand Bank Limited will have the same relationship with Australia and New Zealand Banking Group Limited as they had with Australia and New Zealand Bank Limited.

The promoter of the Bill is Australia and New Zealand Bank Limited.

Communications or notices to the promoter may be sent to Messrs Bell, Gully, and Co., Solicitors, 104 Featherston Street, Wellington (P.O. Box 1291).

A copy of the Bill may be inspected at the offices of Messrs Bell, Gully, and Co., at the address stated, during normal office hours on any weekday other than Saturday.

BELL, GULLY, AND CO., Solicitors.

THE INSURANCE COMPANIES' DEPOSITS ACT 1953

PROPOSED RELEASE OF DEPOSIT

The New Zealand Plate Glass Insurance Co. has given notice to the Public Trustee that it has ceased to carry on business in New Zealand in respect of the class of insurance business designated as class 4 in the First Schedule to the above-mentioned Act, and that it proposes to withdraw the deposit which has been made by it with the Public Trustee, pursuant to section 3 of the above-mentioned Act.

The Public Trustee therefore gives notice, pursuant to section 19 (3) of the above-mentioned Act, that, subject to his being satisfied that all of the liabilities of the said company in New Zealand in respect of insurance business referred to herein have been fully liquidated or provided for, he proposes to release to the company, on or after 15 July 1970, the amount deposited with him by the said company.

Any objection to the release of the amount deposited should be lodged with the Public Trustee at the Public Trust Office, Lambton Quay, Wellington 1, on or before the 15th day of June 1970.

Dated at Wellington this 15th day of May 1970.
