No. 706
Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

In the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by Hodder and Stoughton Ltd. for a decision in respect of the book One Last Mad Embrace by Jack Trevor Story, published by Sphere Books Ltd., London.

There was no appearance of the applicant. Accordingly no submissions were made.

Decision of the Tribunal

This is another cheap paperback novel by the author of Hitler Needs You. Like Hitler Needs You, this story is also extremely disjointed and has no literary merit.

The novel is ostensibly a mystery involving murder, blackmail, and large sums of ill-gotten money, but these are merely subplots; the central theme being the seduction by a precocious young girl of an all too eager middle-aged man. The girl herself claims she is 12 years old, and while there is some debate about it, her true age is never established. The story culminates in the last few pages, with the sexual union of the central character and the girl. The rest of the book forms the prelude to this act and is told in a manner intended to titillate the reader.

Taken over all, this book is thoroughly unwholesome and without any redeeming features.

The Tribunal classifies this book as indecent.

R. S. V. SIMPSON, Chairman.

No. 707
Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

There was no appearance of the applicant. Accordingly no submissions were made.

Decision of the Tribunal

Hitler Needs You is a paperback novel about a 16-year old boy’s attempts to discover the murderer of a girl whom he secretly admired. During the course of the investigations the young man has his first sexual encounters.

The book is cheaply produced and the story is extremely disjointed, giving the impression of being hastily written. However, while the book lacks any literary merit, its sexual content is minimal and the book cannot be termed indecent within the terms of the Act.

The Tribunal classifies this book as not indecent.

R. S. V. SIMPSON, Chairman.
No. 708

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

There was no appearance of the applicant. Accordingly no submissions were made.

DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL

These collections of limericks and anecdotes are largely puerile and harmless and no doubt would be acceptable and purveyed in rugby clubrooms and smoke concerts.

However, there is language and references to sexual matters which we do not believe should be readily available to younger persons. Accordingly, taking into consideration the matters referred to in section 11 of the Act, the Tribunal classifies this book as indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 18 years.

R. S. V. SIMPSON, Chairman.

No. 709

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

There was no appearance of the applicant. Accordingly no submissions were made.

DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL

This is a novel about a gentleman called Arthur (known as "Art"). Henry who had a heart attack, was given up for dead, and recovered—much to the consternation of his wife, family, friends, and employers. The story is not without humour.

The book does not offend against any of the provisions of the Act.

The Tribunal classifies this book as not indecent.

R. S. V. SIMPSON, Chairman.

No. 710-717

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

Mr Neill, the applicant, appeared and made submissions.

DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL

These Australian magazines present sexual behaviour in an aggressive, sensational manner. The articles, illustrations, and advertisements cater for an interest in vicarious sexual experience in a way that offends against the standards of decency which the Tribunal must apply. There is little else in the magazines and it is overshadowed by an unhealthy attitude towards sex.

The Tribunal classifies these issues of these magazines as indecent.

R. S. V. SIMPSON, Chairman.

No. 718

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

In the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs for a decision in respect of the magazine Curious, No. 1, published by Kingsland Lott Publishing Co. Ltd., London.

Mr Bathgate appeared on behalf of the applicant and made submissions. There was no appearance of the publisher's representative in New Zealand.

DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL

This magazine is said to contain highlights of the first three issues of a sex education magazine and to be issued as a connoisseur's collection. The Tribunal has had many publications in this field to consider and, in each case, has sought to balance genuine informative usefulness against any appeal, through the explicitness and tone of the presentation, to unwholesome preoccupation with sex.

There is a mixture of material in this magazine, but the emphasis given in it to illustrations which go well beyond any requirements of the informative content of the text, and the presence of a cheap narrative of a couple's lovemaking accompanied by a sequence of photos with a strip-tease accompanying it, undermine any claim it has as an educational publication with honesty of purpose. The magazine seems to be primarily concerned with exploiting interest in sex and, taken as a whole, is indecent.

The Tribunal classifies this magazine as indecent.

R. S. V. SIMPSON, Chairman.

No. 719

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

In the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs for a decision in respect of the book The Love Pagoda, anonymous, published by Brandon Books, California.

Mr Fligg appeared on behalf of the applicant and made submissions. There was no appearance on behalf of the publisher's representative.

DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL

This account of the amorous adventures of Hsi Men and his six wives is introduced as portions of a famous erotic Chinese novel. It is told in a quaint and laboured style, and those who persist to the end will find a cautionary moral inscribed as the heroic Hsi Men expires: "Valued Reader, even lechery has its limits, and the store of virility is inexhaustible." The recital is so full in its description of sexual encounters that restriction of the book to adult readers is required.

The Tribunal classifies this book as indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 18 years.

R. S. V. SIMPSON, Chairman.

No. 720

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

In the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs for a decision in respect of the book Place In Hell by H. R. Kaye, published by Holloway House Publishing Co., California.

Mr Bathgate appeared on behalf of the applicant and made submissions. A written submission was received from the Waverley Publishing Co.

DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL

It was submitted that this book, described on its title page as the autobiography of a one-time Hell's Angel rebel, was of similar quality to others dealing with the world of motorcycle gangs which the Tribunal had given restricted circulation. Careful scrutiny, however, shows this book to be lacking in any sustained sociological or other serious interest in the material presented. The sensual narrative of the gang's affairs is offered in tones of excited pleasure and the treatment of the gang's victims is likewise devoid of any restraint or humanity.

The Tribunal classifies this book as indecent.

R. S. V. SIMPSON, Chairman.

No. 721

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

In the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of a reference to the Tribunal under section 12 (1) of the said Act by the Magistrate's Court at North Shore for a decision and report in terms of the said section in respect of the book Hello Sex by Anders and Gunilla Jorgens, published by King Road Publishing Ltd., London.
Mr Rabone and Mr Trendle appeared on behalf of the Police. Mr R. J. Downey put in written submissions on behalf of Seven Seas Publishing Pty. Ltd. subsequent to the hearing to which Mr Rabone made written submissions for the Police in reply.

DECISION AND REPORT

Hello Sex is a straightforward descriptive book of instruction on most aspects of human sexuality. The purpose of the book is stated in the opening sentence of the last chapter as being "intended to indicate the facts, and some of the problems, of becoming a sexually capable young person".

Mr Downey, in his submission correctly so, draws attention to the chapter on abortion and the fact that the law given in that chapter is the law that applies in England. The text of that chapter is well balanced and objective and a reader would probably realise that the legal position stated refers to the English law. We do not raise any objection to the book on this score.

The Tribunal does not basically find fault with the text of the book and, in fact, is of the view that taken as a whole the whole the text is unobjectionable. It is some of the photographs which are of concern to the Tribunal. Mr Rabone in his submission suggested these were chosen for their sensational and salacious appeal, and hence there was no honesty of purpose in their inclusion in the book. Some of these photographs, and in particular those on pages V, VI, and VII, are not strictly relevant to the text and in the view of the Tribunal are offensive and indecent. The photographs on the book cover are also deliberately designed to appeal to the prurient. Mr Downey submitted that they might be held to be objectionable by some people but that they are in accord with the general informative nature of the book and given any undue emphasis. We cannot agree with this contention but rather with Mr Rabone who submitted that the photographs have no purpose other than to act as an inducement to beguile the customer to purchase the book.

We consider that the inclusion of some of the photographs in the book displays a lack of honesty of purpose on the part of the publishers. Section II (1) (f) of the Act requires us to take this fact into consideration.

The Tribunal classifies this book as indecent.

R. S. V. SIMPSON, Chairman.
