The United Nations Security Council's Sanctions Committee's Appeal Concerning Southern Rhodesia

The following communique issued by the Security Council's Sanctions Committee on 4 September 1973 is published for general information:

"An appeal for information from private individuals and non-governmental organisations as to possible sanctions violations is launched by the United Nations Security Council Committee established in pursuance of resolution 253 (1968) concerning the question of Southern Rhodesia.

As a Committee of the Security Council, its present membership is as follows: Australia, Austria, China, France, Guinea, India, Indonesia, Kenya, Panama, Peru, Sudan, Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, United States of America and Yugoslavia. The Committee was established by the Security Council on 29 May 1968 when the Council unanimously approved mandatory sanctions against the illegal regime in Southern Rhodesia. This was the first time in the history of the United Nations that mandatory economic sanctions were imposed by the Security Council.

In the past the Committee has received information mainly from Government sources, which has enabled it to investigate many cases of suspected violations of sanctions. However, the Committee feels that there are sources of information regarding violations of sanctions which are not at present being tapped. Accordingly the Security Council agreed that Member States, as well as the Committee, should, by taking adequate measures, encourage individuals and non-governmental organisations to report to the concerned bodies reliable information concerning sanctions-breaking operations.

The Committee invites private individuals and organisations to supply it with reliable information on the following:

(a) trade, or the promotion of trade, with Southern Rhodesia, including carriage of goods;
(b) financial or investment transactions with Southern Rhodesia;
(c) foreign travel by Southern Rhodesians;
(d) transport to or from Southern Rhodesia;
(e) encouragement of emigration or tourism to Southern Rhodesia;
(f) the maintenance of any relations or any representation, official or unofficial, with Southern Rhodesia.

These activities, or any others liable to support or encourage the illegal regime, involve possible violation of sanctions and should be reported to national authorities and/or direct to the Committee. Reliable and detailed information is desirable.

Authorship of information sent to the Committee will, if desired, be treated as confidential. The Committee always meets in closed sessions and its records are available only to members of the Committee. The Committee hopes that communications addressed to it will be signed and fully attributable.

Information should be sent to:

The Secretary-General,
UNITED NATIONS,
Room 3540,
New York, N.Y. 10017,
United States of America.”

Dated at Wellington this 2nd day of October 1973.
NORMAN KIRK, Minister of Foreign Affairs.
