J. A. KEAN, Comptroller of Customs.

No. 830

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

In the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs for decisions in respect of the following magazines: Penthouse International Magazine, Vol. 5, No. 8, Vol. 8, No. 9, 10, 11, and 12, and Vol. 9, No. 1, published by Penthouse International Ltd., New York, and Penthouse Publications Ltd., London.

Mr Murray appeared on behalf of the Comptroller of Customs and made submissions. Mr Heron appeared on behalf of the distributors and made submissions.

DECISIONS OF THE TRIBUNAL

In its decisions No. 745-747 the Tribunal considered three issues of a new magazine for men, Oui. It noted that comparison with Playboy and Penthouse was an obvious approach in considering them. The present application in respect of six issues of Penthouse again requires the Tribunal to assess the acceptability within New Zealand of certain individual issues of a magazine from a part of the publishing world which is marked by aggressive competitiveness and constant adjustment of its products to popular demand. Comparison with earlier issues of Penthouse classified by the Tribunal, and with issues of magazines, has played a prominent part in the Tribunal's consideration of the present application.

When the Tribunal last considered this magazine, in decisions No. 560-563, New Zealand Gazette, 31 October 1972, it said that the balance of material was not weighted so heavily on the serious and non-sexual side as the Tribunal had thought in classifying earlier issues. That tendency has accelerated in the period of less than 2 years between those four issues and likewise has a marked emphasis on providing sensational sexual material for the gratification of readers. One of the letters praises the "juicy stories" which Penthouse offers, and such a phrase captures well the basic prurience of the magazine beneath its sophistication of style and glossiness of texture.

The Tribunal has carefully considered each of the issues as a whole, seeking to weigh the effect of individual elements within that whole, and has arrived at its decisions only after considering the whole, seeking to weigh the effect of individual elements in which the sex instruction genre may be thought to have a prominent part in the Tribunal's consideration of the present application.

The Comptroller of Customs has represented to the Tribunal that there is a case for the Tribunal to issue an order under section 15A of the Act in respect of future issues. Mr Heron conceded that such an order could legally be made. In view of the differences between individual issues illustrated in the present decisions, the Tribunal is not prepared to order that all future issues of Penthouse should be treated as indecent documents. An order that it be treated for the next 2 years as a publication restricted to those over 18 years of age is thought appropriate by the Tribunal.

The Tribunal classifies Vol. 5, No. 8 (U.S. edition) and Vol. 8, No. 9 (English edition) of Penthouse as indecent in the hands of persons under 18 years of age.

The Tribunal classifies Vol. 8, No. 10, 11, 12, and Vol. 9, No. 1 (all in the English edition) of Penthouse as indecent.

The Tribunal determines that no less than three issues of Penthouse being a serial publication which has been published within the period of 12 months are indecent and are restricted publications, and accordingly the Tribunal makes an order under section 15A of the Indecent Publications Act that issues of Penthouse are to be treated as restricted publications, classified as indecent in the hands of persons under 18 years of age, for a period of 2 years from the date of notification of this order in the New Zealand Gazette.

R. S. V. SIMPSON, Chairman.

No. 831

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

In the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Commissioner of Police for a determination in respect of the following magazine: Ich 49, published by Itch Publications, Wellington.

Sergeant McLennon appeared on behalf of the Commissioner of Police and made submissions, and Detective Morley appeared as a witness and gave evidence. Although no appearance was made, written submissions were received from the publishers.

DECISION OF THE TRIBUNAL

This publication, numbered 49, was said by the Police to be the only issue known to them since Ich, No. 2. It had been circulating since February 1974 by sale or gift to school children at or in the vicinity of various schools in the North Island. It appeared that further distribution was to take place.

In submissions by the Police, emphasis was placed on a number of items which raised the question of indecency because of the attitude to sex and sexual experience.

The Tribunal, as it did in considering Ich, No. 2, has looked at the issue as a whole and taken into consideration all the matters set out in section 11 of the Act.

In its decision 766 on Ich, No. 2, the Tribunal said:

When other matters are considered—particularly the age group amongst whom the magazine is intended to be sold and the method of distribution—the offensiveness of the publication and its capacity to harm clearly go beyond the mere affronting of propriety and good taste. This publication diminishes human sexuality to an impulsive to be followed wherever it leads and pushes that view upon children. The public good requires that such blatant irresponsibility be restrained.

That statement applies equally to Ich, No. 49. There is nothing in this issue which leads the Tribunal to take a different view.

The Tribunal classifies this issue of this magazine as indecent.

L. M. GREIG, Chairman.
