DECISION
Anais Nin, who died in 1977, was born of mixed Spanish and French parentage, spent part of her formative years in the United States and did most of her writing in English.
She lived in France between the two world wars, and returned to America at the beginning of World War II. She is known for several novels, poems, and other literary works, and a multi-volume dictionary covering some 35 years. She could be described as a minor literary figure of the 20th century, but of particular interest to feminists. The stories collected in Delta of Venus were written in 1940-41, at a time she and a group of her friends were hard up in New York and had an opportunity to write frankly erotic stories for the money. In spite of this genius, the stories are easily distinguished from run-of-the-mill pornography by their literary character. This is illustrated both by the style and by the characterisation of the persons whose stories they tell: they are real individuals, not simply puppets who proceed straight from one lurid sexual adventure in the hands of persons under the age of 16 years.

Decision No. 920
Reference No. IND. 21/78
Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

In the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs in respect of the books:
1. The Dirty Song Book.
2. Homophile.
3. Men and Their Boy Studs.
4. Sexurbia.
5. Sex Vacations Confidential.
6. Three Partner Sex Acts.
7. The Young Deviates.
8. Male and Female Sexual Deviations.

BEFORE THE INDECENT PUBLICATIONS TRIBUNAL
MESSRS. L. M. Greig (chairman), D. M. Wylie, Mrs. L. Edmond, and Mrs. H. B. Dick.
Appearances: Mr. P. E. Leloir for Comptroller of Customs.

Decision
The first seven and the last named books are all similar in format and have no literary merit. The first named is a collection of songs similar in content and overall effect as other song and joke books which the Tribunal has previously held to be indecent. The others in this group contain numerous and explicit accounts of sexual encounters. Each of these books is an example of pornography without any redeeming feature. The Tribunal finds each of these books to be indecent.

The remaining two books, Male and Female Sexual Deviations and Oral Love, are somewhat different. Although they deal with sexual matters and behaviour they do so in a more serious and restrained manner. Both are similar to Unusual Sex Behaviour and Practices dealt with by the Tribunal in Decision No. 866. The Tribunal considers therefore that these two books should be classified similarly with an age restriction.
The Tribunal classifies the books number 1 to 7 (inclusive) and 10 as indecent and the books numbered 8 and 9 as indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 18 years.

Decision
These seven magazines were seized by the Customs Department from a private importer. They came before us on a disputed forfeiture.

The first five are similar to other publications considered by the Tribunal on previous occasions and are representative of what is generally called hard core pornography. They are all entirely devoid of any merit and in the most obvious way exploit prurient interest in sex. They are clearly indecent.

The other two magazines are somewhat different but still fall within the category of sex magazines which do not provide the appropriate balance of serious and honest writing to redeem the rest.

The Tribunal classifies each of these seven magazines as indecent.

BEFORE THE INDECENT PUBLICATIONS TRIBUNAL

Messrs. L. M. Greig (chairman), D. M. Wylie, Mrs L. Edmond, Mrs H. B. Dick.

Appearances: Mr Pidgeon for Hutchinson Group Pty. Ltd.

Decision

This is an Australian publication, and although by far the greater part of its content can be described as having a sexual orientation, its general tone is not as prurient as some the Tribunal has seen. It is appropriate to allow it limited circulation among adults, and we accordingly classify it as indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 18 years.

Decision of the Indecent Publications Tribunal

In the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by Comptroller of Customs in respect of the magazines: High Times, Nos. 29, 30, 33, and 35; publisher, Trans High Corporation; and Glass Head, publisher, Barney Karp.

BEFORE THE INDECENT PUBLICATIONS TRIBUNAL

Messrs. L. M. Greig (chairman), D. M. Wylie, Mrs L. Edmond, Mrs H. B. Dick.

Appearances: Mr P. E. Leloir for Customs.

Decision

This group of publications comprises four magazines and a manufacturer's catalogue.

All are published in the United States and are almost wholly concerned with the use, sale and purchase, cultivation, and distribution of various kinds of drugs. The magazines contain a number of articles about matters of interest to drug users and advertisements of accessories and equipment for keeping, using, and growing drugs. The catalogue has no text but is a photographic display, with prices and directions for purchase, of equipment for drug users.

The dominant effect of the magazines is the approval and encouragement of the use of all kinds of drugs with passing reference to methods and equipment to avoid detection. While not all that is contained in these magazines could be said to be indecent under the Act, the effect as a whole in each and every case is to describe, depict, or otherwise deal with matters of crime in New Zealand in a manner which the Tribunal considers is injurious to the public good.

Having considered all the matters under section 11 there is not any sufficient redeeming feature in these magazines to qualify the decision as to indecency under the Act.

There are more than three issues of this magazine before us, all published within a period of 12 months and it is appropriate that there should be a serial publication restriction order.

Glass Head we consider to be in a different category. While it is intended to encourage purchase of articles for using drugs, it is in itself, as a photographic display, innocent. Purchases or attempted purchases through its means might well be criminal but the effect of the catalogue and a publication appears to us to be not injurious to the public good and not an affront to commonly accepted standards of decency.
The Tribunal therefore classifies Glass Head as not indecent and classifies each issue of High Times as indecent. In respect of High Times it makes a restriction order under section 15A of the Act for a period of 2 years applying to every issue of that publication each issue to be treated as indecent.

Dated at Wellington this 12th day of April 1979.

DECISION

This book is a collection of erotic pictures which were originally produced for the edification of young couples of the Ming period. There are 35 prints, accompanied by a selection of Chinese love poems, some written as early as 100 AD and translated by American Orientalists with the help of the Chinese artist-poet Walasse Ting who is known for his translations of Chinese classics into contemporary idiom.

Dr Franzblau, Emeritus Professor of Pastoral Psychiatry of the Hebrew Union College - Jewish Institute of Religion, New York, and now on the psychiatric staff of Mount Sinai Hospital says in his introduction, "These prints clearly are not pornography, whose goal is only sexual arousal, but represent a valid form of instruction in the techniques of conjugal love."

Professor Franzblau surveys the social and cultural milieu in which the sexual practices shown in the prints existed; thus giving the whole work a sound historical perspective.

Erotic Art of China is a serious contribution to artistic and cultural history. Its study of unfamiliar sexual mores is scholarly and humane, and both prints and poems are tastefully presented. The Tribunal classifies this book as not indecent.

No submissions were made on behalf of the distributor and the Chief Censor accordingly was not called upon. The film was reviewed after a study of the application and discussing it at length. All members of the board other than Mrs Forbes (who was granted leave of absence) were present.

The decision of the board was to approve the film for exhibition, to classify it as approved for general exhibition, to grant leave to show it with one of its opened titles when one of the youths in the film was portrayed running round the perimeter of a football field muttering "fuck you" in response to his coaches exhortation to "move it, move it". It was felt that the film was necessary to bring the children to the language guide lines set by the censor in other decisions. Such a cut would not effect the continuity or meaning of the film in any way.

In coming to its decision as to whether or not the film was likely to be injurious to the public good the board took into account the matters set out in section 26 (2) (a) (b) (c) (d) and (e) of the Act. In considering subsection (b) the board was unanimous in considering the film had little or no artistic merit or other reasons. It was considered to be a fairly slight teenage romp which was likely to appeal mainly to relatively young audiences.

The film was not particularly well made or tastefully made and if the board were to be the arbiter of public taste it would no doubt have considered that there was little merit in the film at all. However that is not the test.

What was considered was (a) the extent to which the film depicted anti-social behaviour, cruelty, violence, crime, horror, sex, or indecent or offensive language or behaviour and (b) the extent to which the film denigrated any particular class of the general public by reference to the colour, race, or ethnic or national origins, the sex, or the religious beliefs of the members of that class. In considering (a) (i.e. section 26 2 (c) of the Act), the board considered each of the episodes which no doubt would have caused concern to the censor in coming to his decision to ban the film. In particular there was a flick knife scene. The board considered this to be more comical than frightening. The youth’s handling of the knife was so unskilled and his “disarming” so inept as to make him appear ridiculous. The board considered this scene in itself could not be considered as frightening as the knife episodes in other films including West Side Story and that the conduct displayed was not likely in its context to promote imitation and thereby be injurious to the public good. Nudity in the film was considered unexceptionable and unobjectionable in its context. Dead or dying West Side Story and that the conduct displayed was not likely in its context to promote imitation and thereby be injurious to the public good. Nudity in the film was considered unexceptionable and unobjectionable in its context.

There were two episodes of cannabis smoking shown in the film. The first related to a number of students smoking reefer when being addressed by the headmaster. The second depicted two of the school’s football team buying a reefer before a football match. While it is agreed that such conduct cannot be condoned by the board it was not considered in the context of the film to be likely to be injurious in the wider sense to the public good.

The board therefore classifies Glass Head as not indecent and classifies each issue of High Times as indecent. In respect of High Times it makes a restriction order under section 15A of the Act for a period of 2 years applying to every issue of that publication each issue to be treated as indecent.

Dated at Wellington this 12th day of April 1979.
LAURENCE M. GREIG, Chairman.
The scene which probably caused the censor most problems was the final scene in the film. This was the "chicken game" which involved the racing of two cars towards a cliff edge. One of the cars went over. After the initial feeling of horror that one of the competitors had possibly been killed, it was subsequently seen to be strolling back to the cliff. This scene was subsequently seen as highly dangerous and had caused concern in the film Rebel Without a Cause. However, when film was shown in this country a decade ago and some of the members of the board could remember it as having been shown on television to an unexempted audience. In Rebel Without a Cause the chicken scene was performed against the background of a serious challenge between two youths and one of the participants was killed. In this scene the driver was seen at the end of the film, all of the audience realising that the film was little more than a spoof. In addition the attitude of the majority of the students in the film was such an activity was "old hat". The two protagonists were depicted as fairly infantile and the board was unanimous and conclusively of the opinion that the scene itself was not likely to be injurious to the public good in that it would not be likely to cause imitation. And audiences likely to be seeing the film in New Zealand.

In considering (b) (i.e. section 26 2 (d)), the only matter which could possibly have caused concern in the board's view was the title that the teachers in particular were unduly put down. However after considering this aspect of the matter it was not considered that the teachers in particular were unduly put down. If anything the approach taken in the film, that the classes of taxpayers who are to use that form, and, where applicable, the due dates for payment of provisional tax.

(b) Every incorporated body which derived assessable income.

Exchange Rates

In terms of section 25 (2) of the Reserve Bank of New Zealand Act 1964, the Reserve Bank today released outer limits for rates of exchange to be used in transactions involving the conversion of New Zealand currency into foreign currencies and foreign currencies into New Zealand currency when delivery of the foreign currency dealt in will be effected by telegraphic transfer. The following range of rates, for the main currencies used by New Zealand traders in settling foreign exchange transactions, will remain in force until replaced by a new schedule issued by the Reserve Bank. These rates do not apply to transactions for settlement after the expiration of two business days (forward transactions) or to transactions in which instruments are purchased which do not entitle the buyer to foreign currency balances in the foreign centre until that amount has been delivered at the foreign centre. In the latter case interest at foreign centre rates may be deducted from the telegraphic transfer rate to compensate the purchaser for his loss during the transit period.

THE MAORI AS HE WAS
By Elsdon Best
Fifty years of public demand since this book was first published resulted in the need for reprints in 1934 and 1952. The text has been reproduced unchanged but the originals of some of the figures could not be traced and these have been replaced with similar illustrations. There have been many advances in our knowledge of Maori life since this book first appeared. The work of numerous ethnologists, and more recently archaeologists, has critically examined many of the earlier concepts, confirming some, disproving others, and altering others to varying degrees. No one has yet produced a synthesis of the results of all this scholarship and there is still nothing as comprehensive as this book of Best's to give a general account of the Maori. This book was first published when Best was 68 and thus represents the accumulated knowledge of a lifetime. It has now become a classic introduction to Maori life. Its continued availability should help the reader to obtain a basic background to old time Maori life which can be extended by further reading.

THE MAORI CANOE
By Elsdon Best

The material presented on canoes, their materials, types, methods of construction, and associated artifacts make interesting reading for the layman as well as for scholars of the Maori. (Government Printer.)

MAORI RELIGION AND MYTHOLOGY PART 1

MAORI STOREHOUSES AND KINDRED STRUCTURES
By Elsdon Best
As an authority on Maori culture, the author has compiled in this publication a comprehensive record on the use of the different storage structures, etc., used by the Maori in former times. By studying items pertaining to Maori technology it is hoped this will throw light upon many phases of the social and customs hitherto unknown. This bulletin is No. 5 in the Dominion Museum Series.
