Before the Broadcasting Tribunal

IN the matter of the Broadcasting Act 1976 and in the matter of a complaint by Edward Charles John Bourke Haliburton.

WARRANT HOLDER: Radio Pacific Ltd: (IXP).

B. H. Slane, chairman, Lionel R. Sceats, member, Janet C. Somerville, member, Gordon C. Ell, co-opted member, Robert Boyd-Bell, co-opted member.

Hearing: 1 December 1981.

DECISION

The Complaint:

FOLLOWING his participation in a public debate about illegal drugs Mr Haliburton was invited to appear on Radio Pacific on 27 September 1979. He was taken to the station by Mr P. A. D. Williams who had suggested him for use on a programme. Mr Williams believed him to be Lord Haliburton of Dirleton. He introduced him to the host of the programme Lindsey Dawson as Lord Haliburton. Mr Haliburton asked to be called Ned. He gave a message to the receptionist to be passed on to Miss Dawson to that effect.

She had already spoken to him on the telephone to establish his background and what he might say on the programme. He had told her that he had a valid title claim but he did not use the title in New Zealand, preferring to be called Ned Haliburton. Presumably as a result of information supplied by Mr Williams or gathered during discussions with him, she asked him whether he had been a naval intelligence officer. Mr Haliburton said that he told her that he had entered the Royal Navy through Dartmouth as a cadet, was subsequently trained for intelligence as a midshipman but did not become operative, being invalidated out of the navy at the age of 19. He made it clear that his work on British counter-intelligence in the late 1950's had nothing to do with his career in the navy.

The programme was apparently originally to be conducted by Mr G. W. J. Dryden who had already interviewed him and another person who took part in the public debate earlier, as a preview to that debate. However, when it came to the date of the programme Mr Dryden was not available
