*S.R. 1973/86
In the matter of the Broadcasting Act 1976, and in the matter of an application by Radio I Limited for amendment of the sound-radio warrant MF 44 (IXI):

B. H. Slane, Chairman, Lionel R. Scoats, Member, Janet C. Somerville, Member.

Hearing: At Auckland, 30 November 1981.

Decision

In a decision dated 29 April 1980 (Decision No. 13/80) the Tribunal renewed the warrant for a period of 5 years and gave reasons why the period of the renewed warrant would be less than the maximum period of 7 years. At the same time the Tribunal deleted an existing warrant condition inserted at the time of the grant of the warrant by the Broadcasting Authority requiring the station to comply with the proposals contained in its warrant application, and substituted the following clauses:

(c) The warrant holder shall not substantially depart from the format and content of its programmes or the type or extent of services intended to be provided at the time of the grant of the warrant without the prior consent of the Broadcasting Tribunal and subject to any conditions which the Tribunal might impose in the public interest.

(d) The station was on a black list and the Tribunal had imposed the proposition of the news services provided by the station we are satisfied that an effort is being made to comply during the day with the requirements laid down in the initial application. We are prepared to accept the omission of bulletins at night time partly because of the traffic reports from aircraft and the other community involvement activities of the station. This should not be taken as a precedent for stations to reduce news bulletins from those programmes as provided by the station.

Mr Williams submitted that the period for which a warrant is renewed is one of the terms of the warrant within the meaning of section 81 (4) of the Broadcasting Act. Where the words of the statute are plain, the obligation to construe the statute must be construed in their ordinary and natural sense. Section 72 provided that every warrant shall, unless sooner revoked, continue in force until a date 5 years after the date of issue.

Section 81 (2) provides that the renewal of a warrant shall take effect for the same period as the original term of the warrant renewed, "except that if the Tribunal is of the opinion that the holder of the warrant has been or is in breach of any condition of his warrant, the Tribunal may grant a warrant to take effect for such lesser period as it thinks fit." (Footnote 5 states what the Tribunal did in the case of the renewal of Radio I's warrant.) Mr Williams agreed that a warrant could not be amended to provide for terms less than 5 years. That would render section 72 nugatory.

Mr Williams submitted that section 71 (2) was designed to ensure that at all times a warrant contain provisions dealing with the matters set out in that subsection. It did not conflict with the power to make amendments although section 81 (4) was made subject to section 71 (2).

Mr Williams took a hypothetical case to justify the reasonableness of his argument: An infringement may have led to a reduction of the warrant term to 5 years. It may be learned that the evidence of key witnesses against the warrant holder was false and perjured after any time of appeal had expired. Unless section 81 (4) could be enlarged to provide for the expiration in excess of 5 years, the Tribunal would be powerless to rectify an obvious injustice.

The Tribunal is satisfied that there is statutory power to amend the warrant during renewal, and that there will expire provided the amendment would not have the effect of extending the duration of the warrant beyond the maximum of 5 years from the date of expiry of the previous warrant. The circumstances in which such power should be exercised are alluded to later in this decision.

The argument of the merits of the application itself can be summarised as follows:

(a) The renewal which led to the application was the first occasion upon which there was any challenge to the renewal of a private warrant and the first occasion when something was attempted which could not be remedied. The application therefore falls into two parts. First, the applicant accepted that it must demonstrate that the amendment sought is justifiable in terms of the provisions of the Act.

(b) The station had responded in the period provided by section 84 (3) Broadcasting Act 1976.

(c) The station had been notified of an appeal, it had not in fact been lodged before the application was filed. The managing director of Radio I Limited, Mr G. B. Edwin, gave evidence of the news services provided by the company, and the concern about renewal of anything beyond the existing format which he said was exactly that which Radio I undertook to provide in its original warrant application. A 40 percent increase in news staff is some indication of the significant public demand for news services beyond the existing format which he said was exactly that which Radio I undertook to provide in its original warrant application. A 40 percent increase in news staff is some indication of the significant public demand for news services beyond the existing format which he said was exactly that which Radio I undertook to provide in its original warrant application.

(d) The station was on a black list and the Tribunal had imposed the proposition of the news services provided by the station we are satisfied that an effort is being made to comply during the day with the requirements laid down in the initial application. We are prepared to accept the omission of bulletins at night time partly because of the traffic reports from aircraft and the other community involvement activities of the station. This should not be taken as a precedent for stations to reduce news bulletins from those programmes as provided by the station.

Mr Williams made detailed submissions on the jurisdiction of the Tribunal to amend the expiry date of the current warrant. In this to make amendments does not need to be satisfied that the amendment is necessary in the public interest.

But the applicant accepted that it must demonstrate that the amendment sought is justifiable in terms of the provisions of the Act.

Mr Williams submitted that the period for which a warrant is renewed is one of the terms of the warrant within the meaning of section 81 (4) of the Broadcasting Act. We are prepared to accept the omission of bulletins at night time partly because of the traffic reports from aircraft and the other community involvement activities of the station. This should not be taken as a precedent for stations to reduce news bulletins from those programmes as provided by the station.
The position regarding the warrant of the station is, perhaps, misunderstood and it is as well for this Tribunal to state it clearly.

Although the warrant has been renewed for a shorter term than the maximum of 5 years, the station is neither on a blacklist nor set apart from other stations. It simply has its renewal coming up for consideration 2 years earlier.

However, all private station warrants do not run from the same dates and therefore there are warrants falling due during most years.

Section 81 (3) states:

Every application for the renewal of a warrant shall be granted by the Tribunal on the opinion that sufficient grounds exist for the revocation of the warrant and the holder of the warrant has been notified accordingly.

This provision is compatible with the infringement provisions of section 83 which require any proposal to revoke or suspend the warrant on the grounds that the station has not been carried on with the terms and conditions of the warrant to be notified to the station.

It is therefore clear that if a station complies with the terms of its warrant from the date of its renewal to the expiry time of the warrant (whether it be 3 years or 5 years), the station is entitled to have its warrant renewed by the Tribunal. Furthermore, there have been breaches of conditions of the warrant which justify that course, the warrant renewal may not be made to take effect after a shorter period than 5 years. It is therefore clear that Radio 1 will be entitled to renewal for a term of 5 years if it has complied with the terms of its warrant during the 3 years for which it stands renewed at present.

In our decision on the renewal we said the 3-year period would provide a reasonable period for the Tribunal to survey the station's performance. A decision to reduce the term of a warrant must be regarded as an opportunity for the Tribunal to have a look again at the performance of the station towards the end of the period stipulated for the renewal. The question the Tribunal has to decide in the present case is whether there are sufficient grounds for accelerating that review. The effect, in the present case, is that, having reviewed the circumstances of the warrant at this stage, it should defer further consideration until three and a half years from now rather than at a time 3 years from 30 June 1980.

It is accepted by the Tribunal that the station has taken steps to improve its performance and to address itself to the field and some months elapsed before this application was made in July 1981. The Tribunal has also concluded that there are not sufficient grounds for the revocation of the warrant and the holder of the warrant has been notified accordingly.

In our decision on the renewal we said the 3-year period would provide a reasonable period for the Tribunal to survey the station's performance. A decision to reduce the term of a warrant must be regarded as an opportunity for the Tribunal to have a look again at the performance of the station towards the end of the period stipulated for the renewal. The question the Tribunal has to decide in the present case is whether there are sufficient grounds for accelerating that review. The effect, in the present case, is that, having reviewed the circumstances of the warrant at this stage, it should defer further consideration until three and a half years from now rather than at a time 3 years from 30 June 1980.

We do not think it appropriate that we should set forth the circumstances in which a warrant which is granted for shorter term on renewal would be restored to its original date of expiry. We do consider however that the simple device of putting the station's "house in order" (as Mr Williams has put it), should not entitle the station immediately to go back to the original 5-year term. The purpose of the renewal is more than a discipline, (although it is clear that it has had some effect on station directors and management who may previously have regarded promises made on the grant of a warrant somewhat lightly), it is an opportunity to review the conduct of the station at an earlier period than the 5 years.

In this instance the Tribunal would have had the opportunity to review the performance of the station over a 3-year period, or something close to that. The applicant is asking us to consider performance of the station over some months during part of which the company thought there was process of an appeal, and during part of which it had decided to make this application. The Tribunal does not consider that this is an adequate period for the Tribunal to determine the attitude of the station to its warrant obligations. During much of the period the station has been enjoying an increased audience and the economic benefits which flow from it, fuller advertising schedules for example. The problems arose when economic pressure threatened the viability of the station.

Furthermore, the review that has been undertaken at this stage was foreseen at the time of the decision to renew the warrant for 3 years as it was made clear that an application should be made within 3 months of that decision, or within 3 months of an appeal in respect of that decision being dismissed, when the warrant would be amended along the lines proposed in 1980.

Simply restoring the original 5-year term cannot remove the immediate consequences to the company of the original renewal decision. The impact of that decision came in the statements made by the Tribunal in it and the decision to renew the warrant for less than 3 years. The effect of extending the expiry date to 5 years would no more indicate that the station has put its house in order than the plain statement we make in this decision that it has set about doing so.

The application for the deletion of clause (f) is approved and the following clause substituted:

"Notwithstanding condition (e) the warrant holder may continue to provide the same services and basic format of its programmes as it was providing on the 30th day of November 1981."

The application to amend the expiry date of the warrant is therefore declined.

The Tribunal deferred final consideration of this application until the judgment of the High Court was known in an appeal by Hauraki Enterprises against a similar decision of the Tribunal to grant a warrant for only 3 years. (Decision 11/80). On 11 March 1982 that appeal was dismissed by the High Court. There is nothing in the High Court judgment to suggest the Tribunal misdirected itself on the law or its application to renewals.

Dated the 29th day of March 1981.

For the Tribunal,

B. H. SLANE, Chairman.

Decision No.: 1016
Reference No.: Ind 13/81

Before the Indecent Publications Tribunal

In the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs for a decision in respect of the following publication:

Pornography: Men Possessing Women by Andrea Dwarkin. Published by G. B. Putnam's Sons, New York.

Judge W. M. Willis (Chairman), Mesdames H. B. Dick, L. P. Nikera, Messrs J. V. B. McLinden, I. W. Malcolm.

Hearing: 1 April 1982.

Decision: 30 April 1982.

Appearances: Mr Leloir for Comptroller of Customs, Miss S. Moran for importer, Mr R. Parke.

DECISION

This book was imported through the Auckland Parcels Post Branch and was seized on 14 October 1981. As the importer has disputed its forfeiture, the book has been referred to the Indecent Publications Tribunal for a classification prior to the commencement of condemnation proceedings.
Pornography: Men Possessing Women by Andrea Dworkin, is published in hardback and paperback. Although the American paperback is being published by the University of Chicago Press, those who have been fortunate enough to have seen the hardback copy, published by Academic Press Limited, Toronto, and a paperback published by New Women's Press, London, and a paperback published by Oxford University Press in hardback and paperback. Although the American hardback copy, published by Academic Press Limited, Toronto, and a paperback published by Oxford University Press in hardback and paperback, has been before the Tribunal for classification it was not considered to be indecent.

Academic Press Limited, Toronto, and a paperback published by Oxford University Press in hardback and paperback. Andrea Dworkin makes no pretence whatsoever that she is writing to support the feminist viewpoint, a position which must be taken seriously. The problem facing the Tribunal is to first accept the publication as being authentic, in fact, a serious study of pornography, and to then have regard for the unusual and perverted sex acts which are graphically described. To quote Mr. Lobor of the Customs Department—"Part of the book is taken up with discussion of pornography with numerous lengthy extracts from other publications. These extracts explicitly describe perverted sex acts". The Tribunal is very grateful for Miss Moran for her very full submissions in respect of this work. I think it is fair to comment that those who have read the book have at least four serious works. Times Literary Supplement and the New Yorker have treated her works as being a genuine expression of the feminist viewpoint. It would be fair to say that the author's publications will be found on the shelves of university and public libraries, both in New Zealand and overseas, as a result of the reviews her book has attracted.

Exchange Rates

In terms of section 25 (2) of the Reserve Bank of New Zealand Act 1964, the Reserve Bank today released outer limits for rates of exchange to be used in transactions involving New Zealand currency into foreign currencies and foreign currencies into New Zealand currency when delivery of the foreign currency dealt in will be effected by telegraphic transfer. The following range of rates, for the main currencies used by New Zealand traders in settling foreign exchange transactions, will remain in force until replaced by a new Schedule issued by the Reserve Bank. These rates do not apply to transactions for settlement after the expiration of 2 business days (forward transactions) or to transactions in which instruments are purchased which do not entitle the buyer to foreign currency balances in the foreign centre until the instruments have been delivered at the foreign centre. In the latter case interest at foreign centre rates may be deducted from the telegraphic transfer rate to compensate the purchaser for his loss during the transit period.

LIVING LETTERS
STATE SERVICES COMMISSION
$1.75 plus 55c p & p
One of the aims in letter writing is to get ideas across to the reader clearly and briefly. But do letters always say what is meant? Even if they are clear to the writer, will the reader understand them easily? If you are still using the old cliches of "acknowledging receipt of," "according to our records," and "enclosed please find" it is almost certainly time to change your attitude to writing living letters.

THE PA MAORI
By Elsdon Best
293 p. 1974 reprint.
$6.50 plus 85c p & p
Fifty years of public demand since this book was first published resulted in the need for reprints in 1934 and 1952. The text has been reproduced unchanged but the originals of some of the figures could not be traced and these have been replaced with similar illustrations. There have been many advances in our knowledge of Maori life since this book first appeared. The work of numerous ethnologists, and more recently archaeologists, has critically examined many of the earlier concepts, confirming some, disproving others, and altering others to varying degrees. No one has yet produced a synthesis of the results of all this scholarship and there is still nothing as comprehensive as this book of Best's to give a general account of the Maori. This book was first published when Best was 68 and thus represents the accumulated knowledge of a lifetime. It has now become a classic introduction to Maori life. Its continued availability should help the reader to obtain a basic background to old time Maori life which can be extended by further reading.

MOA-HUNTER PERIOD OF MAORI CULTURE
ROGER DUFF—CANTERBURY MUSEUM BULLETIN No. 1
$17.50 plus $1.50 p & p
This book deals with the most important site yet investigated and in its discussions it traverses most of the New Zealand archaeological field.
A chance discovery in 1939 by a 13-year-old boy revealed the grave of a chief in the gravels of the Wairau boulder bank. The grave, goods, and bones of the ancient chief, prone in his graveled grave, with skull directed towards the setting sun, spoke with more authority regarding his race than the distorted memories of Maori tradition.
Although scholarly and technical, the book sustains throughout the drama of this archaeological discovery, and recreates from the evidence of bone and stone the life of our first Polynesians in the Moa-hunter period of Maori culture.

FOREST LORE OF THE MAORI
By Elsdon Best
DOMINION MUSEUM BULLETIN No. 14
$17.95 plus $1.50 p & p
Printed without textual alteration, the work provides an important basis for any study of old-time Maori economics and perhaps more important of his attitude to what was a major part of his environment. It will be more of general interest today than when first written, since it stresses so fully the uses made by the Maori people of their natural resources, and supplies basic materials for further studies in ethnobotany and ethnozoology. The reverence which the old time Maori showed towards natural resources mirrors the modern concern for ecological principles.

NETBALL Revised—A Guide Book for Teachers, Coaches and Players
DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

Netball is a spectacular exciting game which is played and enjoyed in many countries both by the very young and the more experienced and mature international players.
To obtain the utmost enjoyment it is essential that each player becomes skilful in the techniques and tactics of the game and to know and understand the rules.

MAORI
By Witi Ihimaera
$1.20 plus 40c p & p
A colourful booklet describing the coming of the Maori to New Zealand, his history, heritage, folklore, beliefs, and cultural unity.
Each chapter has a quotation from a Maori proverb, phrase, saying, or canoe chant and these concepts are presented in words and pictures.
Continues with the arrival of the pakeha and the pattern of events which followed, the Treaty of Waitangi and the Land Wars. Moves on to the Maori today, finishing with the theme, and perhaps more important of his attitude to what was a major part of his environment. It will be more of general interest today than when first written, since it stresses so fully the uses made by the Maori people of their natural resources, and supplies basic materials for further studies in ethnobotany and ethnozoology. Section 2—Supplies information on the control of many of New Zealand's worst weeds.

Section 3—Gives recommendations for the control of weeds in crops, pastures, and other specific areas.

Section 4—Describes the chemicals and summarises their uses.

Section 5—Deals with application of herbicides.
