Decision of the Films Censorship Board of Review

PURSUANT to section 82 of the Cinematograph Films Act 1976, International Film Distributors applied for a review of the feature film The Scarecrow. The review was held in Wellington on 11 March 1982.

The film is a New Zealand production based on the New Zealand novel The Scarecrow, by R. H. Morrieson. It concerns the effect on a small town community, and in particular the Poindexter family, of the arrival and subsequent activities of a murderer. The film recounts events from the standpoint of a 13 year old boy.

In this review it was not the classification, but the Censor's note which was disputed. Written submissions were sought from the applicant and the Chief Censor. The board noted that the application for review under section 82 (3) of the Act cancelled the Chief Censor's decision, and it was its responsibility to approve or refuse to approve the film for exhibition and to classify it.
