

In decision No. 926 the Tribunal said:

"In submissions to us reference was made to decisions 432-435 in March 1972. While we adhere to the general principles there set out, the Tribunal considers that there has been some change in the standards of community opinion since then."

Opportunity has been taken to compare the contents of Sexual Pleasures from A to Z with those of Sex Encyclopedia. While it must be said that the former book is of greater length than the latter and while it is true that some matters are more explicit than others, the Tribunal is of the opinion that there is not such a wide difference in the two publications to warrant a different classification. Furthermore, there can be no doubt with the fact that community standards have varied greatly since 1976. The book is classified as indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 18.

District Judge W. M. WILLIS, Chairman.

SCHEDULE

Number and Title of Draft	Closing Date
DZ 4229 Code of practice for concrete masonry buildings not requiring specific design.	28 February 1983

This code of practice for concrete masonry buildings not requiring specific design, published by the New Zealand Concrete Masonry Association, has been adopted by the Standards Association of New Zealand as a draft for public comment in terms of the Standards Act 1965.

It is intended that the code and NZS 4210P:1981 Code of practice for masonry buildings: materials and workmanship, should become means of compliance with NZS 1900 Model building bylaw Chapter 6.2 Construction requirements for masonry buildings not requiring specific design.

Copies of DZ 4229 may be obtained from the Director, N.Z. Concrete Research Association, P.O. Box 50-156, Porirua, Price $10.

Comments and contributions are invited on the detailed technical content of the document and on the wording and general arrangement.

These comments should be sent to: Standards Association of New Zealand, Private Bag, Wellington.

DZ 1900:6.2 Model building bylaw Chapter 6: Construction requirements for buildings not requiring specific design: Division 6.2 Masonry	11 November 1982
---	------------------

This draft is a revision of Division 6.2:1964 of the Model building bylaw. The revision is in a shortened format similar to that adopted in recent revisions of other divisions and chapters and citing means of compliance documents.

In the case of concrete masonry construction, as a means of compliance with clause 6.2.2 of this division of the bylaw, the local authority Engineer may approve the Code of practice for concrete masonry buildings not requiring specific design published by the New Zealand Concrete Masonry Association. This publication has been adopted as a draft New Zealand Standard available for public comment as DZ 4229. See details above.

Following review of comments it is intended that the document, with any appropriate changes, will be declared as a New Zealand Standard and cited in this division of the bylaw as a means of compliance.

Copies of DZ 1900:6.2 may be obtained from the Standards Association of New Zealand, Wellington Trade Centre, 15-23 Sturdee Street (or Private Bag), Wellington, Gratis.

Dated at Wellington this 16th day of August 1982.

DENY R. M. PINFOLD,

Director, Standards Association of New Zealand.
