

masturbation a prominent feature. The body positions and facial expressions of the women are designed to impart action and movement into the photographs to achieve the maximum verisimilitude. In one case (Busts—"The Finish Line") text is directly in support of the "action" photography.

- (3) The publications have in many of them overtones of female sexual deviation, and in one an explicit photograph of this.
- (4) The texts are almost exclusively concerned with sexual stimulation and arousal, and completely devoid of any literary content, or even a gesture towards serious writing. They are shallow to the extreme.

In the Tribunal's view these submissions are careful and accurate.

In written submissions Mr Stapleton submitted that in the light of Waverley new guidelines were set for this type of publication, and he went on to say that the Tribunal in addition to any other matters, should take into account how much Community standards have changed over the years. His final submission was that the publications referred to were similar in style, content, and presentation to a publication Look, classified indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 18.

The Tribunal cannot agree that the publications under consideration warrant the same classification. For the reasons given by Jeffries J., the Tribunal classifies all publications as indecent. By way of comment, it should be noted that Kingsize and a publication called 38-26-34 was classified by the full Court as indecent in Waverley.
