Before the Broadcasting Tribunal

In the matter of The Broadcasting Act 1976, and in the matter of an application by the Broadcasting Corporation of New Zealand for the renewal of television and sound radio warrants: B. H. Slane, Chairman. Lionel R. Sceats, Member.

INTERIM DECISION

The Corporation's application concerns all the television warrants and most of the sound radio warrants held by the Corporation. The warrants not affected are those which have been granted to the Corporation since 1 February 1977. The Broadcasting Act which came into force on that day provided for the Tribunal to issue warrants to the Corporation's existing stations (other than television relay stations) established and operated by the Corporation at that date. This the Tribunal proceeded to do and each of the warrants was for a term of 5 years in accordance with section 72 of the Act.

Thus the warrants in respect of stations established and operated by the Corporation at 1 February 1977 continued in force until 31 January 1982. Section 72 also provides that where an application for renewal has been made but not disposed of before the date of expiry of the warrant it continues in force until the application is disposed of unless the Tribunal, with the approval of the Minister, otherwise directs.

Applications were filed by the Broadcasting Corporation so the stations have continued to operate under the existing warrants.

Section 81, Broadcasting Act 1976, provides that the renewal of a warrant shall take effect for the same period as the original term of the warrant renewed, except that if the Tribunal is of the opinion that the holder of the warrant has been or is in breach of any condition of his warrant, the Tribunal may grant a warrant to take effect for such shorter period as it thinks fit.

Section 81 (3) provides that a renewal shall be granted by the Tribunal, unless it is of the opinion that sufficient grounds exist for the revocation of the warrant and the holder of the warrant has been notified accordingly.

There are no grounds for the revocation of the warrants and therefore the warrants are required in terms of the Act to be renewed.

In the case of each of the warrants there was no evidence that the holder of the warrant had been in breach of any condition of the warrant and no submission was made that on these grounds the warrant should be renewed for a shorter period that 5 years.

Submissions were made to us in respect of some warrants that, for other reasons, the warrant ought to be renewed for a shorter period. The Tribunal finds that it has no power to renew the warrants for a shorter period than 5 years other than because of a breach.

All the applications will therefore be granted with a renewal for a term of 5 years in each case.

Section 81 (4) provides that subject to section 71 (2) the Tribunal may of its own motion amend or revoke any of the terms and conditions of the warrant or add any new terms and conditions which, in its opinion, are necessary in the public interest.

It was argued that the duration of the warrant was a term of the warrant itself which could be amended by the Tribunal and a shorter term of renewal granted. The Tribunal considers that this would be an abuse of the procedure for renewal. The Act specifically provides the basis on which a full term renewal is to be granted and the circumstances in which that can be departed from. To depart from it for other reasons would not be a correct application of the Act.

In the course of renewals the Tribunal invited and received a number of submissions from private individuals and organisations in a number of areas in New Zealand. The Tribunal held extensive hearings and in respect of every sound radio station individual evidence was given as to the performance of that station and the circumstances in which that can be departed from for other reasons would not be an abuse of the procedure for renewal. To depart from it for other reasons would not be an abuse of the procedure for renewal. To depart from it for other reasons would not be an abuse of the procedure for renewal.

Submissions were made as to specific amendments which we were urged to make to the warrants. Apart from that aspect the occasion was one for some general review of the performance of the stations which would give an opportunity for members of the public and interested organisations to make submissions in an impartial forum. This would be supplementary to the normal political accountability under the Act.
And whereas by Order in Council dated 27 September 1939, published in Gazette, No. 124, 5 October 1939, p. 2649, the land described in the Second Schedule hereto was included in the Maori reservation constituted by the Order in Council dated 8 April 1936 mentioned above:

And whereas by notice dated 6 November 1975, published in Gazette, No. 101, 13 November 1975, p. 2550, the land described in the Third Schedule hereto was cancelled from the Maori reservation:

And whereas it is desired to cancel the reservation as it pertains to the land mentioned in the Fourth Schedule hereto:

Now, therefore, pursuant to section 439 (5) (b) of the Maori Affairs Act 1953 notice is hereby given as follows:
