In the matter of the Broadcasting Act 1976, and in the matter of an application by Radio I Limited for renewal of sound radio warrant AM 44/IX:

Chairman: B. H. Slane.

Members: Lionel R. Sceats and Ann E. Wilson.

SECOND INTERIM DECISION

In the Tribunal's first interim decision on 18 March 1983 (Decision 7/83) the Tribunal indicated that as the wording and definition of limited sponsorship had not been canvassed with the parties the Tribunal has made an interim decision. It would be open to any party to make submissions on the wording (but not the substance) of the amendment.

The Tribunal invited comments and when it had received them, circulated those comments to the parties for further comment.

Radio Pacific Ltd. considered the definition should stand. Hauraki Enterprises Ltd. has no submission to make. The Independent Broadcasters Association did not have any comment. Stereo FM Ltd. did not wish to make any submissions.

Radio I Ltd. submitted that sponsorship should not permit broadcasts including material related to the goods and services of the sponsor as it created the opportunity for announcements very similar in form to some types of commercial advertising.

The broadcast corporation of New Zealand considered Radio I's submission wished to alter the substance rather than the form of the Tribunal's ruling. On balance the Tribunal decided it did not. We considered there was merit in the submission from Radio I.

The Tribunal has decided however that it will not make the requested amendment at this time, but will see whether the Broadcasting Corporation's treatment of the right to mention products and services was used as an opportunity to broadcast... commercial type advertising. We could possibly consider this aspect again at a later date. Therefore this decision will also be an interim one.

The Broadcasting Corporation made 4 submissions.

The first was that with 7 digit telephone numbers, the name and address could exceed 10 words. It proposed that the address or telephone number should be defined as counting as no more than 3 words, regardless of length.

As we would expect that each sponsorship announcement would include the name of the sponsor there is considerable merit in the Corporation’s argument. The address and telephone number of the sponsor will therefore be defined as counting as no more than 3 words, regardless of length.

The second submission was that it was unreasonable to restrict in paragraph 3 (a) sound effects or music. On balance the Tribunal has rejected the submission. The Tribunal considers the restriction is legally valid and that it is important that sponsorship announcements should not appear to be conventional commercial advertising.

The third submission from the Corporation was that paragraph 3 (d) which reads:

“(d) Any attempt to persuade or induce the listener to purchase particular goods or services or to attend at the place of business was restrictive. It would prevent a sponsor announcing that free tickets to an entertainment, or that particulars of interest rates on deposits, or entry forms for a contest or competition were available at its place of business.

The Tribunal agrees that the restriction would so apply and consider that this is its intention. They go beyond being sponsorship announcements.

In its fourth submission the Corporation asked the Tribunal to permit some flexibility in sponsorship announcements. It sought the right to broadcast up to 15 sponsorship announcements in an hour, provided that a maximum average of not more than 10 an hour are broadcast on any advertising day. We are not persuaded this is necessary or desirable.

The Tribunal has, in other contexts, heard the argument before about average content per hour and believes that it seldom has any real relevance. If there is to be a control on content, it has to be based on a maximum per hour. The maximum number of sponsorship announcements will remain as stated.

If, after a period, the Corporation wishes to renew its application in this respect, it will be reconsidered in the light of, and with evidence of, the style and nature of announcements being broadcast.

We emphasise that the intention was that the character of the station should change from commercial to non-commercial but with limited sponsorship to help in some financial support. The purpose is not to encourage a limited range of normal commercials. The spirit in which the Corporation has approached that aspect could affect any relaxation of the conditions, including the maximum number permitted.

NOTICE is hereby given that under-mentioned New Zealand standard specification has been recommended for revocation pursuant to the provisions of the Standards Act 1965.

Mrs Sargisson submitted that an appropriate order for CTV might be $150,000. But she conceded that a proportion of the costs were incurred at a date earlier than it would have been reasonable in her client’s estimate for the Corporation to have advised estimated charges. We can only be sure that an order for an amount of $150,000 could not have been justified.

Another issue which we had not had to consider, is whether the Corporation ought to be ordered to pay costs in respect of its actions (or inaction) of the Tribunal in its capacity of owners of transmission equipment (section 71 (3)). We might well have hesitated to make an order for costs which was fortuitously based on whether or not the Corporation had expressed enough interest in its appearance and be a party in the proceedings when the costs were allegedly incurred because of defaults by the Corporation in its section 71 (3) capacity rather than in its participation in the proceedings itself.

Each party will have to bear its own costs.

The application for costs is declined.

Decision No. 1076
Reference No. Ind. 14/83

Before the Indecent Publications Tribunal

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs for decision in respect of the following publications:

Sexual Knowledge. Publisher RBW Press (Sales) Ltd., U.K.

Sexual Harmony. Author Tuppy Owens.

Judge: W. M. Willis, (Chairman).

Hearing: 16 August 1983.

Appearances: C. F. Hillman for Comptroller of Customs.

Written submissions for importer, B. A. Armstrong.

DECISION

We were informed by Mr Hillman for the Comptroller of Customs that the above publications were imported commercially by Mr Armstrong through the Hamilton parcels post and were seized on 4 November 1982. As Mr Armstrong has disputed forfeiture of the publications, the Tribunal has referred the publications to the Tribunal for classification prior to the commencement of condemnation proceedings pursuant to the Customs Act.

Mini-Skirts Views is a paperback published by Toni Books of London. Its physical dimensions are 135 mm x 210 mm and it contains numerous black and white photographs of different models. The publication is of low quality and a great many of the photographs are contrived to expose the genital area.

In many pictures transparent or flimsy clothing is worn to obscure a direct view of that area. There is no text accompanying the photographs.

Mr Hillman suggested the content of the publication could render it indecent.

The importer, Mr Armstrong, submitted that the Tribunal had passed more explicit publications, and there were yet more publications not vetted by the Tribunal which had far more explicit content than the photographs in the books being considered. As well he stressed the need for the Tribunal to find that the publication was “injurious to the public good” and requested that in the event of the Tribunal ruling the publication indecent, that it give its reasons for classification prior to the commencement of condemnation proceedings.

The XYZ of Love, published by Waverley Publishing Co., was the English edition with copyright vested in 1975 at H. H. Publications Ltd., London. The book features largely the same models throughout and contains text on a wide variety of subjects. There are numerous colour photographs of high quality, and although they are frank and explicit we feel that they are appropriate to the subject-matter of the publication.

For all the above reasons we declare Mini-Skirts Views as unconditionally indecent.

Sexual Knowledge. This publication is a paperback sex manual. It is 150 mm x 200 mm and is 171 pages in length. The book was first published in 1972 by Stephenson Verlag, Flensberg in conjunction with the Institute of Sexology in Munich. The author was Gunter Hunold who is apparently an assistant professor at the institute.

The present publication is the English edition with copyright vested in 1975 to H. H. Publications Ltd., London. The book features largely the same models throughout and contains text on a wide variety of subjects. There are numerous colour photographs of high quality, and although they are frank and explicit we feel that they are appropriate to the subject-matter of the publication.

Mr Hillman for the Comptroller of Customs drew our attention to the fact that 2 persons as books by the author had been before the Tribunal. The first was Sexual Pleasures A-Z and was classified by the Tribunal as unconditionally indecent in Decision 856. The second was Sex Encyclopaedia classified as conditionally indecent (16 years age restriction) in Decision 926.

Mr Armstrong obviously misconceived the situation because he was under the impression that Sexual Pleasures A-Z had been previously passed by the Tribunal. He said that he had purchased copies of that publication from his distributor, but was sent Sexual Knowledge as apparently the other publication was out of stock. In light of Mr Armstrong’s misconception of the Tribunal’s previous ruling, it is perhaps fortunate for him that there was a substitution of books. Mr Armstrong submitted that this publication should be classified in the same way as Sex Encyclopaedia, i.e., with an age restriction of 18 (which was the restriction in the Tribunal’s classification was R16, this point is referred to later).

We read the previous decisions referred to by the parties, but in absence of being able to view the publications concerned we find the previous rulings of limited value. In Decision No. 856 the Tribunal said of Sexual Pleasures A-Z:

“The introduction is in alphabetical form with entries up to 200 words, lavishly illustrated with colour photographs. It is very different in tone and treatment from books such as YXZ of Love, Mini-Skirts Views and The Joy of Sex... to which the Tribunal has given restricted classifications, and it cannot make claims on...”
grounds of literary or artistic merit, or social or scientific character which would lead us to regard it as other than indecent."

That decision was given on 22 April 1976. Just of 3 years later on 12 July 1979 the Tribunal ruled in respect of Sex Encyclopaedia and 4 other sex manuals:

"Each is a form of sex manual which comprise photographs of forms of sexual intercourse together with a text which more or less compliments the photography.

While there are variations in presentation and impact among the books considered proper to be considered together as being generally restrained and natural. The Tribunal does not perceive in these books a prurient or dishonest purpose. The dominant effect is rather a sensible and serious presentation of modes of social behaviour.

In submissions to us reference was made to Decisions 432-435 made in March 1972. While we adhere to the general principles there set out, the Tribunal considers that there has been some change in the standards of community opinion since then. While some age restriction is appropriate there is not, in our opinion, any need in respect of these books to distinguish among them."

The Tribunal classified the publications on that occasion as R16.

It appears to us that by 1979 the Tribunal had adopted a more liberal standard in relation to the classification of sex manuals. We feel that this publication falls generally within the description provided by the Tribunal of the manuals considered in Decision No. 826. Hence we are of the frank and explicit nature of the photographs we feel that a higher age restriction is appropriate in the case of this publication. The reason for this is that the publication could be purchased by immature readers for reasons that had more to do with their prurient interest in the publication, than its merits as a sex manual.

For all the above reasons we classify Sexual Knowledge indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 18 years. Sexual Harmony by Tuppy Owens is a sex manual approximately 64 pages in length. It measures 290 mm x 215 mm.

The one unusual feature of this publication is that it came before the Tribunal in 1972. In Decision No. 433 of 13 March 1972 the Tribunal classified Sexual Harmony as indecent in the hands of persons under 18 years of age. We have had the advantage of comparing the publications and its seems that the major differences are:

(a) the name of the author has changed;
(b) there is no longer a publisher and a copyright printed in the later publication;
(c) although the photographs are the same in the later publication, they are generally of a poorer standard of production, and some of the colour plates in the earlier edition have been replaced by black and white plates.

Mr Hilman for the Comptroller of Customs submitted that these changes to these changes the “Tuppy Owens” version constituted a new publication and that Decision 433 did not apply to it. It was also submitted that because of the content of the publication the Tribunal might consider it.

It looks to us as though someone may have pirated the publication and put it out under a different name. We are sceptical of the importer’s explanation that it appears the author changed her name. We think the final section of the book depicting the single and multiple model photographs referred to earlier, firmly establishes that this is such a case.

Turning now to the matters we are required to consider under section 11 (1), we feel this publication lacks any literary or artistic merit. We think the likelihood of corruption can be contrasted to the lack of benefit that the book would bring to any of its readers. We think the final section of the book depicting the single and multiple model photographs referred to earlier, firmly establishes that the dominant effect of the publication is to portray aspects of sex that can only appeal to a prurient interest and accordingly we find that the publication is injurious to the public good. Rubber and Latex Girls must therefore be classified as indecent.

Young Sporting Girls is another paperback importer by Mr Armstrong and published by Bens Books Ltd., London. It measures approximately 135 mm x 210 mm. The publication consists of 9 pages of text at the start of the book, approximately 26 pages of various models in lesbian, SM and “rubber gear” shots. Those photographs undoubtedly depict deviant aspects of sex, and are highly contrived.

Mr Hilman, on behalf of the Comptroller of Customs, submitted that because of the content of the publication the Tribunal might consider them indecent.

The importer, Mr Armstrong, complained that the book had previously been imported by him with the knowledge of Customs but without objection on the grounds that he understood what he saw as the department’s inconsistent attitude. We are afraid that we must give this complaint limited weight. We have relied on previous occasions that the Customs Department does not have any power to make a formal ruling or to impose formal guidelines on the classification of books that are imported. That is solely a matter for the Tribunal. No doubt on some occasions the department’s conduct could be of significance but we do not feel that this is such a case.

Turning now to the matters we are required to consider under section 11 (1), we feel this publication lacks any literary or artistic merit. We think the likelihood of corruption can be contrasted to the lack of benefit that the book would bring to any of its readers. We think the final section of the book depicting the single and multiple model photographs referred to earlier, firmly establishes that the dominant effect of the publication is to portray aspects of sex that can only appeal to a prurient interest and accordingly we find that the publication is injurious to the public good. Rubber and Latex Girls must therefore be classified as indecent.

Young Sporting Girls is another paperback importer by Mr Armstrong and published by Bens Books Ltd., London. It measures approximately 135 mm x 210 mm. The publication consists of 9 pages of text at the start of the book, approximately 26 pages of various models in lesbian, SM and “rubber gear” shots. Those photographs undoubtedly depict deviant aspects of sex, and are highly contrived.

We accordingly rule Sexual Harmony to be indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 18 years.

In this decision these publications were classified as indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 18 years.

For all the above reasons we would therefore classify Young Sporting Girls as indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 18 years.

Dated at Wellington this 9th day of September 1983.

District Court Judge W. H. WILLIS, Chairman.

DECISION

We were informed by the Comptroller of Customs that these publications were imported commercially through Hamilton parcels post on 19 December 1982, and the Customs Department on the 22nd day of that month. The importer Mr Armstrong, subsequently disputed forfeiture of the goods and the department therefore referred the publications to the Tribunal for classification prior to the commencement of condemnation proceedings pursuant to the Customs Act 1966.

Rubber and Latex Girls is a paperback published by Bens Books Ltd. Its physical dimensions are approximately 135 mm x 215 mm. The contents comprise 9 pages of text at the start of the book, followed by a large number of black and white photographs of various models.

The text deals with a couple who enhance their sex life by the use of rubber clothing. This section is followed by numerous photographs of 2 nurses apparently having an anatomy lecture in a hospital setting. Some of the pictures are completely innocuous. One is a photograph of a young woman, described as a nurse, that series is followed by approximately 26 pages of various models in lesbian, SM and “rubber gear” shots. Those photographs undoubtedly depict deviant aspects of sex, and are highly contrived.

Mr Hilman, on behalf of the Comptroller of Customs, submitted that because of the content of the publication the Tribunal might consider them indecent.

The importer, Mr Armstrong, complained that the book had previously been imported by him with the knowledge of Customs but without objection on the grounds that he understood what he saw as the department’s inconsistent attitude. We are afraid that we must give this complaint limited weight. We have relied on previous occasions that the Customs Department does not have any power to make a formal ruling or to impose formal guidelines on the classification of books that are imported. That is solely a matter for the Tribunal. No doubt on some occasions the department’s conduct could be of significance but we do not feel that this is such a case.

Turning now to the matters we are required to consider under section 11 (1), we feel this publication lacks any literary or artistic merit. We think the likelihood of corruption can be contrasted to the lack of benefit that the book would bring to any of its readers. We think the final section of the book depicting the single and multiple model photographs referred to earlier, firmly establishes that the dominant effect of the publication is to portray aspects of sex that can only appeal to a prurient interest and accordingly we find that the publication is injurious to the public good. Rubber and Latex Girls must therefore be classified as indecent.

Young Sporting Girls is another paperback importer by Mr Armstrong and published by Bens Books Ltd., London. It measures approximately 135 mm x 210 mm. The publication consists of a large number of black and white photographs of two young female models. They have been photographed in various poses, and in varying degrees of nakedness. Although there are full frontal shots of nudity there are relatively few which have been contrived to entice with the genital area. There is also a series of photographs of a model in schoolgirl’s clothing at the end of the book. These photographs are contrived, but we do not feel that they affect the relatively restrained and natural nature of the photographs which we feel that a higher age restriction is appropriate.

We accordingly rule Rubber and Latex Girls to be indecent in the hands of persons under the age of 18 years.

In making this decision we are required to consider under section 11 (1), we feel this publication lacks any literary or artistic merit. We think the likelihood of corruption can be contrasted to the lack of benefit that the book would bring to any of its readers. We think the final section of the book depicting the single and multiple model photographs referred to earlier, firmly establishes that the dominant effect of the publication is to portray aspects of sex that can only appeal to a prurient interest and accordingly we find that the publication is injurious to the public good. Rubber and Latex Girls must therefore be classified as indecent.

NOTES TO THE ACCOUNTS

A. Statement of Accounting Policies

- The general accounting principles recommended by the New Zealand Society of Accountants for the measurement and reporting of results on an historical cost basis, consistent with previous years, have been used in the preparation of the financial accounts.

The following particular principles have been applied:

Note 1: Depreciation—Straight-line depreciation has been applied to the Bank’s EDP equipment to write it off over the period of its expected useful life. All other assets have been depreciated at the rates allowable by the Inland Revenue Department. The difference between these rates, and the straight-line method, is not considered to be material.

Note 2: Government Stock—It has been the Bank’s policy to amortise total discounts and premiums on Government Stock Securities over the term of the investment on a straight-line basis and to show the value of the stock in the Balance Sheet at its cost price adjusted by amortised discount or premium to date.

Note 3: Personal Loans—The Bank’s policy is to add total interest due to the loan when advanced, and interest is brought into revenue on the basis of the “Rule of 78”.

Note 4: Taxation—

(a) The provision for income tax charged in the profit and loss account is the calculated tax liability in respect of the accounting profit after adjusting for permanent differences.

(b) The provision for deferred taxation arises from items of income and expenditure being included in taxation calculations in periods different from those in which they are dealt with in the financial accounts.

     - (i) Interest Income—Interest is recognised on an accrual basis. Personal loan interest excludes unearned interest, and has been apportioned according to the “Rule of 78” method.
     - (ii) Fixed Assets—All fixed assets are valued at cost less accumulated depreciation with this policy the amortisation credited to revenue for Government stock which is at cost adjusted by interest accrued contained in the purchase price, and by the amortisation on a straight-line basis of premiums and discounts over the term of the investment. In accordance with this policy the amortisation credited to revenue for this financial year amounts to $87,425 (1982—$56,832). NOTES TO THE ACCOUNTS

Statement of Accounting Policies:

1. (a) General accounting principles—The general accounting principles as recommended by the New Zealand Society of Accountants for the measurement and reporting of profit and financial position under the historical cost method has been followed in the preparation of these accounts, except for the revaluation of land and buildings.
2. (b) Particular accounting policies—The following particular accounting policies which materially affect the measurement of profit and financial position have been applied:
   1. (i) Interest Income—Interest is recognised on an accrual basis. Personal loan interest excludes unearned interest, and has been apportioned according to the "Rule of 78" method.
   2. (ii) Fixed Assets—All fixed assets are valued at cost less accumulated depreciation with this policy the amortisation credited to revenue for Government stock which is at cost adjusted by interest accrued contained in the purchase price, and by the amortisation on a straight-line basis of premiums and discounts over the term of the investment. In accordance with this policy the amortisation credited to revenue for this financial year amounts to $87,425 (1982—$56,832).
   3. (c) Changes in accounting policies—There have been changes in accounting policies that would have a material effect on the determination of profit for the year.
The market value of the bank’s Government stock holding is $44,555,129. Since stocks are generally held until dates of maturity, differences in market value and book value have little financial effect on the bank.

AUDITORS’ REPORT TO THE TRUSTEES OF THE EASTERN AND CENTRAL SAVINGS BANK

We have examined the balance sheet of the bank as at 31 March 1983, and the related profit statement and statement of changes in financial position for the year then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.
