OFFICIAL INFORMATION ACT 1982—LEGISLATION PROTECTING OFFICIAL INFORMATION

SECTION 38 (a) of the Official Information Act 1982, states that a principal function of the authority shall be:

"To review, as a first priority, the protection accorded to official information by any Act, with a view to seeing whether that protection is both reasonable and compatible with the purposes of this Act."

The authority has already asked Government departments and other organisations to provide it with a schedule listing all Acts administered, identifying those which contain provisions that protect official information and the scope of such provisions, together with penalties, if any, for breaching them. Departments have also been asked to consider whether the protection is reasonable and compatible with the Official Information Act 1982.

The authority now invites written comments from interested bodies and members of the public. Submissions should cover:

1. the name of the Act or regulation providing for the protection of the official information,
2. the department or organisation involved in administering the Act or regulation,
3. the reason the writer considers the provision in the particular Act or Regulation should be modified or repealed,
4. the name and address of the writer.

Submissions should be mailed to: The Chief Executive Officer, Information Authority, P.O. Box 10351, Wellington.

Date for final receipt is 16 December 1983.
