DAVID BEATTIE, Governor-General

ORDER IN COUNCIL

At the Government House at Wellington this 30th day of April 1984.

Present:

HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL IN COUNCIL

Pursuant to section 208 of the Public Works Act 1981, His Excellency the Governor-General, acting by and with the advice and consent of the Executive Council, hereby makes the following order:

1. This order may be cited as the Te Kauwhata Irrigation District Order 1984.

2. The Minister of Works and Development is hereby authorised to construct, maintain and control water supply works described in the First Schedule hereto to serve the land described in the Second Schedule hereto. On completion of construction the Waikato County Council shall administer the scheme on behalf of the Minister.

3. The area of land described in the Second Schedule hereto is hereby constituted as an irrigation district, to be known as the Te Kauwhata Irrigation District (hereinafter referred to as "the district").

4. It is hereby declared that the annual basic charge payable on all irrigable land within the district shall be $138.00 per irrigable hectare and the water availability charge shall be $127.00 per 1000 m³ (cubic metres) of water availability. This is based on an average seasonal water requirement of 2660 m³ (cubic metres) per irrigable hectare. Water use in excess of 2660 m³ per irrigable hectare per season shall be defined as surplus water. The rates charged for the first 1240 m³ per irrigable hectare of surplus water will be the same as the ruling annual water availability charge for that irrigation season. Any additional surplus water in excess of 1240 m³ per irrigable hectare will be charged at a rate equal to 125% (one hundred and twenty-five percent) of the full ruling water availability charge for that irrigation season and is not subject to reductions during the first 6 seasons of supply. The rates charged for surplus water will be reviewed annually and if necessary adjusted accordingly. Reductions shall be made to annual basic charge and the water availability charge during the first 6 irrigation seasons so that the charges for the first 6 seasons of supply shall be as set out in the Third Schedule hereto.

5. It is hereby declared that on the commencement of water supply and from the end of the sixth season of water availability both annual basic and water availability charges may be adjusted annually to take into account variations between the estimated and actual construction costs, variations between estimated and actual costs of operation, maintenance and renewals, and variations in quantity of water or subject to availability agreements.

6. The charges payable shall be for a period of 20 consecutive seasons commencing at the start of the first year of supply for the scheme as determined and notified according to section 217 of the Act.

7. The supply of water will be subject to the water right granted by the Waikato Valley Authority in its capacity as the Regional Water Board. This right (No. 4467) is for up to 22 900 m³/day (twenty-two thousand nine hundred cubic metres per day) of water to be taken from the Waikato River at or about map reference NZMS1 527 577945.

8. The irrigation season shall extend from 15 September to 30 April inclusive.

9. The minimum aggregate area of land occupied that shall be included in the irrigation scheme shall be 2 hectares.

Direction Not to Disclose Information

PURSUANT to section 32 (4) of the Official Information Act 1982, a copy of the direction to the Secretary of Labour made under section 32 (1) (a) of that Act and set out in the Schedule below, together with the grounds for the direction and the source and purport of any advice on which the direction was based (which are also set out in the Schedule below) are hereby published.

SCHEDULE

SECRETARY OF LABOUR

1. This is to advise you that I have decided that the information sought by K. Johnston and recommended to be released by the Chief Ombudsman, pursuant to section 30 (1) of the Official Information Act 1982, concerning labour market forecasts and estimates of unregistered unemployed, should not be made available to him and accordingly direct you pursuant to section 32 (1) (a) of the Official Information Act 1982 not to release it.

2. The grounds for the direction are that pursuant to section 9 of the Official Information Act, and notwithstanding the opinion of the Chief Ombudsman, the release of the information sought would undermine the constitutional conventions as to the neutrality of officials and the confidentiality of their advice. It would also undermine the free and frank expression of current policies for dealing with it, could well be at variance with those of the Government. In itself this need not be unhealthy. However, it is not unreasonable to expect that such differences of opinion if released publicly, would be aired and indeed exploited. This would naturally draw officials into the public debate and the distancing of officials from such debate is an important constitutional convention designed to maintain their political neutrality.

3. More specifically:

(a) In the matter of forecasts and estimates of unregistered unemployed, the opinions of departmental officials on the labour market outlook and, implicitly on the effectiveness of current policies for dealing with it, could well be at variance with those of the Government. In itself this need not be unhealthy. However, it is not unreasonable to expect that such differences of opinion if released publicly, would be aired and indeed exploited. This would naturally draw officials into the public debate and the distancing of officials from such debate is an important constitutional convention designed to maintain their political neutrality.

(b) By virtue of the fact that existing policy forecasts and estimates of unregistered unemployed employ, the opinions of departmental officials on the labour market outlook and, implicitly on the effectiveness of current policies for dealing with it, could well be at variance with those of the Government. In itself this need not be unhealthy. However, it is not unreasonable to expect that such differences of opinion if released publicly, would be aired and indeed exploited. This would naturally draw officials into the public debate and the distancing of officials from such debate is an important constitutional convention designed to maintain their political neutrality.

(c) Occasions are envisaged when under conditions of particular uncertainty, officials may refrain from preparing forecasts or generating estimates of unregistered unemployment if there exists a possibility of misrepresentation or misuse in the political arena or in the course of public debate or use for purely political or ulterior purposes. This would clearly serve to constrain the “free and frank expression of opinions” by officials of the department to its Minister and would thereby undermine the effective conduct of public affairs.

(d) Circumstances are envisaged under which departmental officials may be placed under some pressure during the course of the public debate to modify their opinions as to the labour market situation and outlook.

4. The question of whether there are other considerations which render it desirable, in the public interest, to make that information available has also been considered. No such considerations have been identified.

5. The advice on which this direction is based has been received from the Secretary of Labour in the form of a summary of the department’s position in relation to its labour market forecasts and estimates of unregistered unemployed and their use. The purport of the advice is as set out in paragraphs 2 and 3 above.

JIM BOLGER, Minister of Labour.

IN the matter of the Indecent Publications Act 1963, and in the matter of an application by the Comptroller of Customs in respect of the following publications:

Penthouse Vol. 14, No. 10
Penthouse Vol. 14, Nos 11 & 12; Both published by Penthouse International U.S.A.
Chairman: Judge W. M. Willis.
Messrs: J. V. B. McLinden, I. W. Malcolm.
Hearing: Tuesday, 29 November 1983.

Decision

The Tribunal is called upon to consider Penthouse International, the publishers of the magazine were represented by Mr H. Pleace of Dunedin disputed forfeiture of the July issue; Mr D. W. Devine of Invercargill disputed forfeiture of the June issue; Mr D. F. Hall of Gisborne disputed forfeiture of the July and August issues; Mr H. Place of Dunedin disputed forfeiture of the July and August issues; Mr L. C. Timberlake of Auckland disputed forfeiture of the July issue. Penthouse International, the publishers of the magazine were represented by Mr Robertson of the English Bar. No submissions were made by Mr Hall and Mr Devine while Mr Pleace wrote a letter suggesting that as he imported the magazine for his own use the magazines seized should be restored to him to enable his subscription to be continued unhindered.

Mr Robertson's submissions were directed to having an age restriction placed on the publication with the restoration of restrictions under section 15a.

Mr Timberlake in his submissions condemned censorship and wanted the publication classified as not indecent.

We deal with Mr Robertson's submissions later in the decision.

No publication has received more consideration by this Tribunal than Penthouse. Apart for earlier hearings some issues of each year have been drawn to our attention since 1979. In April 1982 we had issues of September, October and November 1981. In December
In Decision 1053 we expressly refrained from laying down hard and fast rules and in Decision 1054 we described the Tripartite Test as setting 'broad guidelines'. This was expressly because of what was said in Waverley Publishing Company v Comptroller of Customs 1980 I, NZLR 631 at page 641, line 37, Jeffries J said:

"The importance of Waverley is that it was an early decision which analysed the central thrust of the Act in its definition of 'indecency', and the directions of section 11. It also set out to give practical future guidance by itself defining categories into which publications could be placed. No doubt the Tribunal thought this course necessary as the definition of 'indecency' was not particular, and the direction of section 11 general. I realise its usefulness in the practical functions of the Tribunal, noting how frequently it has been applied since 1968. However, there are observations made in that decision which give the impression of an easy, convenient, easily applied categories, can, gradually, usurp the words which make no allowance for the tone or mood of the publication itself maintains a somewhat rigid format.

The reason for our reference to guidelines was because of the uncertainty which existed in the mind of the importer. Therefore broad guidelines were laid down. It would be unfortunate that having laid down guidelines for the first time, it should be suggested that we have now become too rigid in our approach in this matter and in particular in our approach to this publication. This rigid approach which we are suspected of using is simply because the publication itself maintains a somewhat rigid format.

The serious articles which we accept as being of a very high standard occupy only about 25 percent of the publication compared with somewhere between 30-40 percent of the publication concerned with items of a sexual nature. If the advertising content of a sexual nature were added it can be claimed with justification that the publication is dominantly concerned with sex. If the serious articles were increased in volume and the pictorial sections were reduced or alternately made of such a character that we would be prepared to classify them with an age restriction then it may well be not only that such a classification would be more or less automatic but what is more important the publishers and distributors are concerned a restriction order would probably be available.

Indeed a perusal of our decision relating to Girlie type magazines clearly indicates a flexible approach in the classification of this type of publication.

In our view the dominant effect on readers must of necessity relate more to sexual content than to the serious articles. The construction of the publication almost necessarily makes that so. Indeed, dealing with the second Robertson submission that the Tribunal's view of Penthouse was that because of its general mix of content—which was of borderline acceptability—it was tipped over the brink by the pictorial sections of the nature mentioned. He also gave our reasons for classifying as indecent those issues which contain pictorials with a "multiplicity of models, lesbianism, mixtures of sex and violence and high degrees of intimacy". We have also indicated why we consider these issues as injurious to the public good. Mr Robertson suggested that actual sexual con sensation with the photographs that were labelled ‘Penthouse’. We drew to this attention to the July issue and in particular to the pictorial sections on pages 119–123. If the intimacy shown in those photographs was not actual intercourse it gives every appearance of being just that.

For quite some time, we have been of the view that, when considering publications, we have to prepare them with an age restriction as long as there are no features such as we mention in Decisions 1053 and 1054.

Perhaps the most important submission made by Mr Robertson was the need to classify publications in relation to their dominant effect. He argued both orally and in his written submissions that the dominant effect was to provoke and stimulate thought in the reader over a wide number of areas. Sex was one of those areas, Mr Robertson conceded, but although vital was not the predominant part of the magazine.

We do not accept this submission. We think the approach suggested by Mr Robertson, on Tribunal, over a 10-year period, during which time its composition has changed, has consistently found that the predominant effect of the magazine is to deal with sexual matters in a manner which hovers on the borderline of indecency. For example in 1974 in Decision No. 830 the Tribunal stated:

“The amount of material not concerned with sex varies among the 6 but at nowhere threatens to contest the dominance, in text and illustration, of the varied sexual fare. In its nature and in the tone of its treatment, some of the sexual material is more objectionable than the features of the earlier issues on which the Tribunal commented.”

In December 1976 the Tribunal in Decision No. 881 stated:

“Clearly in both text and photographs there is a predominant emphasis in each magazine, on sexual matters.”

In Decision Nos 1033 (8 October 1982) and 1053 (16 March 1983) similar sentiments are expressed in the sections of the decisions that deal with the dominant effect of the magazine.

Mr Robertson’s argument invites us to consider too narrow a spectrum. While we accept his argument that certain aspects of Penthouse would be thought provoking and stimulating to the reader, we feel it is a conceptual argument that could be applied to all but the least simple type of publication. Consequently we have no doubt that books and magazines dealing with matters of sex, horror, crime, cruelty or violence could be covered by the same argument as is advanced by Mr Robertson, on this point.

Accordingly, we feel that this argument carried little interest.

We reject the submission that the publication has great political and social character or is of great importance in the political and social field.

It makes some contribution to learning but its dominant effect remains sexual. We also suggest that there is room for doubt as to honesty of purpose—i.e. the publication has received universal and international acceptance because of its investigative journalism and thought provoking articles why go to the trouble of including the section which we have considered.

We refer to the pictorial sections in particular and to a lesser extent features such as ‘Forum’ and ‘Call Me Madam’.

Mr Robertson produced to us a photocopy of an affidavit from Professor Haward who is the Professor of Clinical Psychiatry at the University of Surrey, a photocopy of what appears to be an unsual affidavit from John Mortimer, QC and from Mr Blom-

Cooper, QC of London. Professor Haward suggests that the content of the issues of July to December 1983 inclusive are not indecent.

He said that ‘Penthouse’ magazine has been used for the diagnosis of psychosexual problems and for their subsequent treatment by behaviour therapy. He then went on to relate that a Medical Conference in 1972 had recommended the use of sex magazines for psychiatric purposes.

We are aware of a number of what we have called sex manuals which are available in New Zealand with or without an age restriction. We have classified a number of these in recent years and feel that they are more appropriate for the purpose mentioned by Professor Haward. So far as the affidavit of Mr Mortimer and the statement from Mr Blom-Cooper are concerned we note that they refer to the Obscene Publications Act 1959. We are not concerned with that Act but rather with the New Zealand Indecent Publications Act 1963. As we understand the position in the UK matters of obscenity come before a jury whereas under the New Zealand Act the Tribunal is charged with the duty of classifying books and sound recordings in accordance with the provisions of the Act. It may well be that such issues call to be decided by a jury in another context.

Firstly, the jury might be satisfied that the publication is not indecent. Alternately there may be disagreement amongst members of a jury in which case, of course, no conviction would follow. We are aware that there is a body of opinion in New Zealand and doubtless elsewhere, which is opposed to any form of censorship.

We are also aware that there is also a body of opinion which would impose a stricter form of censorship than currently exists. The existence of these two lobbies could well be a reason for a jury taking to fail to agree.

The fact remains that this Tribunal remains the judge of indecency in respect of books and sound recordings. Mr Robertson conceded as much, although he did say that as a Tribunal, we had a wider discussion than merely accept evidence and decide that there was a breach of the Act. In general Courts have been reluctant to accept expert evidence on the issue of whether a publication has a tendency to deprave and corrupt. Leading cases from before 1977 are AC 699, Buckley v Wathen [1973] VR 51 (Victorian Supreme Court, full court).

Mr Timberlake’s submissions do not sit easily with those made on behalf of the publishers who would accept an age restriction.

Mr Timberlake’s objection is another issue that is not one for us to decide. It is our function to carry out as best we can censorship of books and sound recordings in accordance with the terms of the Statute.

As we have mentioned earlier only 3 issues are before us namely those for June to August inclusive. We have had the opportunity to perusing those 1983 issues not already submitted for classification.

Because the 3 issues before us contain multiple scenes they are classified as indecent.

Other issues for 1983 were handed to us as a basis for comparison.

However, we have not been asked to classify them so that the distributors may have to decide for themselves what to do. We have been asked again by Mr Robertson to make a restriction order pursuant to section 15A. Because all issues vary from 1 month to the next and for reasons which we have already given in earlier decisions, we are still not prepared to make a restriction order.

Were we minded and because behaviour therapy is one of those issues we might be declaring the publication as indecent. We have been informed, however, that the 1984 issues are markedly different from those of 1983. We have not yet seen them but if there is an improvement which is sustained over a period, it might be possible to make a restriction order once the publications have been submitted for classification.

Dated at Wellington this 26th day of April 1984.

Decision No. 12/84

Before the Broadcasting Tribunal

In the matter of the Broadcasting Act 1976, and in the matter of an application by the OTAGO RADIO ASSOCIATION INCORPORATED to amend Warrant A/Radio 1/4XD.

Chairman: B. H. Slane.

DECISION

The applicant applied for 2 amendments to the warrant.

One was to permit the rebroadcasting of Radio New Zealand News bulletins which may at times contain sports results.

The other was to extend hours of broadcast on Sundays from 0900 hours to 1200 hours and from 0600 hours to 1100 hours to broadcast continuously from 0900 to 1100 hours.

In support of the application evidence was given by J. A. A. Tonkin the honorary secretary of the association. In evidence given by affidavit Mr Tonkin said it was the intention of the association to use the additional broadcast hours to provide a programme at present unavailable on Sunday afternoons in Dunedin. He described it as “light and bright musical” including music and songs, popular and the past, together with recent and new releases in the ‘ballads’ and ‘country’ styles collectively described generally as ‘easy listening’.

The association believed the programme would fill a gap on Sunday afternoons between the predominantly rock music from commercial stations and the national programme’s lighter music and spoken programmes.

Information supplied with the application indicated that the station had sufficient number of people involved in presenting the programmes.

The association said that it may, after assessing the success of the extended broadcasts, apply for daytime broadcasting on public holidays and at 2am.

The association approached Radio New Zealand with a view to rebroadcasting Radio New Zealand news bulletins to which Radio New Zealand agreed. The news bulletins are recorded and then rebroadcast. It is now thought that the clause prohibiting networking may prohibit this type of broadcasting or at least put it in doubt.

To put the matter beyond doubt the warrant will be amended in this respect to provide the usual prohibition against networking but to make it clear that Radio New Zealand bulletins including those containing sports news may be broadcast by the station.

With regard to the extension of hours the extension seems to fulfil a useful purpose in programming for the Dunedin audience.

No objections have been received to either aspect of the application.

The tribunal will grant the application and at the same time to make the position clear insert the usual prohibition regarding networking but with the proviso that the warrant holder may, notwithstanding any prohibition contained or implied in the warrant, form or join in forming or enter into or be or become a member of any network of broadcasting stations for the purpose of rebroadcasting Radio New Zealand news bulletins including bulletins which contain sports news.

The hours will be amended by deleting the present provision for the hours of transmission on Sundays and substituting; Sundays 0900–2300.

Dated at 19th day of April 1984.

B. H. SLANE, Chairman.

Dated at Wellington this 3rd day of May 1984.

P. J. McKONE, Comptroller of Customs.
The description given in this Tender Number also covers items from Group Item Code 722 although not specifically stated therefore licences obtained from this round will be endorsed, "available for Group Item Codes 721 and/or 722".

ROUND 15; Apparel Tendering Scheme Tender Nos.: 1948 and 1949, Group 723, Women's and Girl's Suits

Group Item Code 723; women's and girl's suits including costumes is available for goods of Item Code 60.125 and 61.040 as specified in the 1984 Import Licensing Schedule. Some tariff items were inadvertently omitted from the call for tender document. Tender licences under Group 723 will be available for goods of Item Codes 60.125 and 61.040, which in addition to those published in the New Zealand Gazette includes the following tariff items for woven articles:

- Ex 61.02.025.02 to Ex 61.02.025.19H
- Ex 61.02.025.42 to Ex 61.02.025.59G

Tender Nos.: 1986 and 1987

The tender has been amended to:

- 1986 G751 Ex 60.05.179 to Ex 61.06.000:
  - Shawls, scarves, mufflers, mantillas, veils and the like (other than exempt goods of Tariff Chapters 60 and 61)
  - $57,500

- 1987 G751 Ex 60.05.179 to Ex 61.06.000:
  - Shawls, scarves, mufflers, mantillas, veils, and the like (other than exempt goods of Tariff Chapters 60 and 61)
  - $120,000

This amendment corrects an arithmetical error, changing the allocation total of tender number 1986 from $60,000 to $57,500 and the number of units available in tender number 1987 from 20 to 24.

Clients on the Register have been advised by letter. Substitute bids will be accepted for any of the above tender numbers. Bid forms should be clearly marked "SUBSTITUTE BID" and should reach the Registrar of Tenders by 5 p.m. on 7 May 1984.

G. D. PRYOR, Registrar of Tenders.

FITNESS FOR LIVING

Physical Education in Secondary Schools

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

1980.

Fitness for living involves developing the individual’s potential for functional efficiency in all aspects of daily living throughout life. This series, consisting of nine titles, will help the reader to understand the nature of the human body. This in turn will lead to an understanding of the need for a balance between work, rest, food, exercise and keeping oneself in good physical condition.
