The books we have before us are explicit and expressed in more simple terms. The Tribunal has on earlier occasions pointed out that whilst there may be no objection to the responsible members of the community having books of this nature in their possession, possession of the same books in the hands of the irresponsible could be highly dangerous. We hold to the view that it is better to have a total ban on the sale of these books rather than to attempt a restriction which would be difficult to enforce.

All publications are classified as indecent.
